Crowd Jams Park At 34th Potter Outing

Area Children Win Bulk Of Awards In Big Baby Contest

By BYRON EELLS

With a bright summer sun and cloudless sky serving as catalysts, a crowd estimated at 33,000 jammed Meyers Lake Park Saturday for the 34th Potters Picnic.

Breaking a spell of rainy, chilly weather he had clamped on the area for several days, the weatherman produced a bright sun as crowds headed for the Canton recreation center for the traditional day of fun.

Temperatures soared into the 80's as potters, their families and friends from Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania enjoyed park amusements, renewed acquaintances throughout the trade and stuffed themselves with picnic lunches.

Although the estimate wasn't as large as the record 35,000 that attended the 1959 event, the crowd seemed to enjoy itself just as much. The midway's biggest crowd was between noon and 5 p. m. Ride operators got their heaviest workout between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., when all rides were free.

Plane Mishap Hurts Couple

Mr., Mrs. Johnson Continue On Trip

A Summitville couple is continuing a fishing vacation in Canada this week following the crash of their private plane Friday night in Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson were injured slightly after the engine of their Sea-Bee Republic amphibious plane failed as they approached an airport at Ravenhurst, Ont.

His wife was released from a hospital there today after treatment for bruises received in the accident Friday about 7 p. m. Johnson also received bruises, but was not hospitalized.

The couple had taken off Friday at 3:30 from North Benton Airport for a fishing vacation in Canada.

A relative said he learned that the engine of the craft conked out as Johnson was nearing the airport at Racenhurst. The pilot attempted to glide to the runway, but was forced to bring the plane down in rough terrain, the relative said.

U.S. Slates Huge A-Blast For Tuesday

HONOLULU (AP) — The U.S. nuclear testing force made ready to fire its highest and biggest blast over the Pacific after dark tonight—about dawn Tuesday in the eastern United States.

The mammoth explosion was expected to light the sky with a flash brighter than sunshine and to be visible in Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of the Johnston Island launch site.

It was scheduled for firing between 11 p.m. tonight—4 a.m. Tuesday EST—and 2:30 a.m. Tuesday—7:30 a.m. EST.

Scientists say communications throughout the Pacific will be disrupted for almost two days after the shot, 50 to 500 times as powerful as the atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima. It will be exploded some 200 miles above the Pacific.

In New York, the Congress of Scientists on Survival appealed to President Kennedy Sunday to call off the high test because of "possibilities of hazard for mankind and his environment."

The group told the President in a telegram such tests "will disturb the Van Allen belt," bands of high energy particles several hundred miles above the earth.

The 20th announced detonation in the current series in the Pacific was exploded Sunday in the area of Christmas Island, some 1,200 miles south of Honolulu.

It was an intermediate-range device of a force equal to that of 20,000 to one million tons of TNT.

Charge Of Hit-Run Filed Against 3rd Following Mishap

Two men were injured in a pair of the six traffic mishaps recorded in East Liverpool over the weekend, police reported. The two injured men were cited on traffic violations, along with a third.

Charges of driving left of center and operating an auto without a driver's permit were filed against Robert Vinson, 48, of Weirton following a collision at Elizabeth St. and Pennsylvania Ave. at 10:30 p.m. Saturday, officers said.

Vinson's auto was involved in a crash with a 1961 model sedan driven by Richard H. Neill, 48, of 737 Minerva St., police said. There was extensive damage to the front end of each car, police said.

Neill told police he was driving west on Elizabeth St. and approaching the turn onto Pennsylvania Ave. when he saw Vinson approaching and heard the tires squealing on the Weirton man's car. Neill said he applied his brakes, but was struck by Vinson's auto.

Judge Plans To Appeal Conviction In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorneys for State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh are laying plans to appeal the jurist's conviction with two others on charges of taking part in a $35,000-bribe plot to fix a federal court bankruptcy fraud case.

Keogh, former chief asst. U.S. Atty. Elliott Kahaner and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo were found guilty Saturday night of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Kahaner, 36, and Corallo, 47, have remained silent about their plans.

But Keogh, 56, a veteran of 12 years on the bench, declared immediately after the federal court jury announced its verdict that his attorneys "will press my appeal from this unjust conviction as soon as possible."

"I am innocent—nothing anyone can do or say will change that fact," Keogh told newsmen.

His status as a State Supreme Court justice was expected to come up for an early review by the appellate division in Brooklyn.

Keogh has been drawing his $34,500 annual salary since his indictment last Dec. 7. He has been without court assignments since that time at his own request.

U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld set July 17 for sentencing Keogh and the two others. Each man could be sentenced to prison for five years and be fined $10,000.

Keogh and Kahaner were convicted of having shared a $35,000 bribe, supplied by Corallo, in return for promising to influence U.S. Dist. Judge Leo F. Rayfiel to give a light sentence to Sanford J. Moore, a Long Island jukebox operator. Moore had pleaded guilty to defrauding a bankruptcy trustee.

Rayfiel heard rumors of a fix attempt and sentenced Moore to three years. The sentence was reduced to one year when Moore agreed to cooperate with the government in the fix case.

Secret Army Suspends Algiers Terror Attacks

Order Halts Violence In Peace Pact

Oran Outpost Hints It Will Not Follow New Instructions

ALGIERS (AP) — A pact between the Secret Army Organization and Moslem Nationalists brought a halt today to the secret army's scorched earth campaign in Algiers and Oran, the two major cities.

Neither arson nor bomb attacks had been reported in the greater Algiers area by noon. The morning also passed quietly in Oran, the extremist European stronghold in the west.

A pirate broadcast from Oran, however, raised the prospect that the secret army group based there might not abide by orders from Algiers to end the campaign of destruction and death.

There was unaccustomed peace within Algiers.

Groups of Moslems emerged from their barricaded quarters and mixed with Europeans in some parts of the city. Half-tracks loaded with troops stood by for any emergency while helicopters hovered over the city.

Despite a secret army appeal to the Europeans to unite with the Moslems "to renovate the Algerian fatherland," crowds of settlers besieged airline offices again today for passage to France before independence."

"We will come back later if all is well," said some.

"The news from Algiers must be heard with caution," the secret army in Oran said of the announced agreement with the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN.) "For the moment we do not have enough information to make any comment. We are keeping intact our means of action."

Most of the deserter colonels forming the secret army's military command are hiding in the Oran area. In recent weeks they obviously have been acting independently of the Algiers group which carried on the negotiations with the Moslems.

The Algiers order called for a halt to arson and murder as of midnight. This secret army broadcast followed separate announcements by the FLN and the Algiers

Damage Exceeds $2 Million

30 Hurt As Canadian Prisoners Riot And Set Penitentiary Ablaze

MONTREAL (AP) — Steel-helmeted troops stood guard today amid the smoking ruins of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, set ablaze by 1,100 convicts in a bloody riot that left 30 persons wounded.

None of the convicts managed to escape, but some were gunned down while trying to scale the walls.

"We had to shoot when they tried to escape or occupy other buildings," said Warden Michael LeCoore, "but we did not shoot to kill."

The six-hour battle was finally ended after more than 200 troops in full battle dress joined guards and police, herding the convicts at bayonet point into a group inside the compound.

Six of the 15 prison buildings were gutted. Others were damaged to varying degrees. Officials figured the damage to the old maximum security prison just northeast of Montreal would come to between $2 million and $3 million.

Twenty-seven prisoners were injured by flames or bullets as guards fired on convicts armed with stones, knives, zip guns and Molotov cocktails — gasoline-filled jars set afire by a rag wick. Three guards were hurt.

After the riot leaders were weeded out, about two thirds of the prisoners were put under some kind of shelter for the night. The rest were herded against a prison wall and had to spend the night outdoors in 50-degree weather because no buildings were available.

Prison officials said they had been unable to determine the cause of the riot, which flared in mid-afternoon during the exercise period.

First sign of trouble came when a group of prisoners stormed out of the kitchen and through the library and psychiatric section.

As guards moved to stop them, other convicts set fire to buildings.

An emergency call brought in Quebec provincial police, then Canadian mounted police and finally the army as firemen from four cities fought the spreading fires.

The guards opened fire as prisoners tried to form pyramids to scale the 40-foot walls.

St. Vincent de Paul is the biggest and one of the most overcrowded of Canada's six maximum-security prisons.

About 400 convicts were housed in cells which a royal commission recommended 24 years ago "should be condemned without qualification." Justice Minister Davie Fulton has described conditions in the prison as "most undesirable."

Movie Actor Stricken By Heart Attack

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Actor Edward G. Robinson was reported seriously ill in a hospital in northern Tanganyika after a heart attack early today.

Robinson, who is 68, is making a movie in the area. The company is camped at 6,000 feet on a 15,000-foot mountain near Mt. Kilimanjaro.

A heart specialist was flown there from Nairobi to attend the film star.

The film group's doctor had left to drive to Nairobi, 200 miles away, a few hours before Robinson became ill. The doctor himself is in the hospital now—his car crashed a few miles outside Arusha and he was injured.

Only petty cash was taken over the weekend when a safe was broken open at the Mobil Oil Co. bulk plant on Route 68 in Industry near the Midland Borough Line, according to Thomas O'Brien of Midland, manager.

Industry Police Chief Guy St. Esprit, Officer Arthur (Ray) Hendershot and Pennsylvania State Police were at the scene this morning investigating.

The safe, about 3-x-3-feet, was discovered rifled when the company's office opened this morning. Police said the amount taken will not be known until the company checks its books.

Liberals Expect Gains

Both Sides See Victory In Close Canadian Vote

TORONTO (AP) — Both Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservatives and the opposition Liberals predict victory as Canadians vote today in their first national election in four years.

The Gallup poll and other surveys indicate an extremely close contest. A number of unknown factors—such as the strength of the minor parties—could have an important bearing on the results.

One possibility was the failure of either major party to get a clear majority of the 265 seats in the House of Commons. This would mean that the winner—Diefenbaker or Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson—could form a government only with the cooperation of the smaller parties.

Such a situation probably would result in a new election within a year, as happened after the Conservatives in 1957 ended 22 years of Liberal rule.

Both the 67-year-old prime minister and Pearson, 65-year-old Nobel Peace prize-winner, claimed their parties would get more than the 133 seats needed for a majority in the House.

T. C. (Tommy) Douglas, leader of the New Democratic party, maintained that the Conservative government would be ousted. It appeared certain that his party and the Social Credit party, headed by Robert Thompson, would register substantial gains over the eight seats now held by the two groups.

The key to the outcome seemed to be the size of the gains the Liberals will make in populous Quebec and Ontario provinces, which together hold 160 seats in the House. It is generally agreed that the Liberals will win back many of the seats they lost in the Conservative sweep in 1958.

The Conservatives had 203 seats in the last House. The Liberals had only 51.

The campaign has been fought mainly on economic issues, with unemployment and the government's recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar generating the most heat.

A record number of 9.8 million voters were eligible to take part in the election. Some observers doubt the turnout will be as good as in 1958, when 80 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

Stock Market Shows Continued Rise Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—Continuing its rally of Friday, the stock market moved higher in active trading early today.

Royal Dutch rose ⅝ to 357⅛ on 4,500 shares. Chrysler gained ½ at 43½ on 5,500 shares.

Georgia Gets Court Review Of Vote Issue

Appeal Waits Study By Top Jurists In County Unit Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision holding unconstitutional Georgia's county unit vote system used in Democratic primaries.

The decision, by a three-judge federal court in Atlanta, was appealed to the high tribunal by the Georgia State Democratic party and Eugene Cook, Georgia's attorney general.

The three-judge court declared the system as presently constituted acted in an "invidious discrimination" against urban voters and in favor of those in rural areas.

The Supreme Court's action was announced in a brief order.

The issue will not come up for argument before the court's new term which begins Oct. 1.

The court turned down a request for an immediate hearing.

changes since last year — a new restaurant adjoining the ballroom and a new ride for youngsters. Called the "Calypso Twist," it is a self-propelled, cage-like affair in which generally two entered and tried to propel it into a giant circle.

Area youngsters captured all but three awards in the big baby show and bathing beauty contest which highlighted the formal afternoon program.

A city woman, Mrs. Ruth Croxall, 1610 Holliday St., was a double winner with her son, Jackie, 3, winning first place in his age division in the baby show and his sister, Debbie Ann, 6, taking second in the bathing beauty contest.

A Sebring family also was a "double" winner as Sheryl and Suzanne, 7-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Holt, took first place in the bathing beauty event.

Nearly 300 youngsters ranging up to 3 competed for $255 in prizes in the baby show. All entrants received a three - piece baby set. First place winners received $50 savings bond with $25 bonds going to those placing second and $10 in savings stamps for third in three age brackets.

Nurses from Molly Stark Hospital in Canton acted as judges selecting the winners while the children and their mothers (and in a few cases fathers) sat in three huge circles on the ballroom floor.

In the up to 1 grouping, Dawn Adele, 11-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale A. Randolph of Alliance placed first. Eric Shepherd II, 4 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Shepherd, 412 Aten Ave., Wellsville, was placed second with third going to Cristina Saunier, 8-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Saunier of Alliance.

East Liverpool youngsters swept the board in the 1-2 bracket, with first place going to Timmy Shawn Reed, 1, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Reed, 1737 Holliday St.

Two-year-old Leandra McKinnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McKinnon, 1157 Erie St., won second and third was awarded to Johnny Viscoglosi, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Viscoglosi of N. Surrey Rd.

Besides Jackie Croxall in the 2-3 division, Christy Lynn, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Madison of St. Clair Ave. Ext. placed second and Andrew Zubay, also 2½, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Zubay of Shadyside Ave., was third.

Even more youngsters were registered for the junior bathing beauty contest held at the park's Moonlight Gardens, the outdoor dancing pavilion, where the Holt Twins were judged first by the nurses and Miss Croxall was selected as second place winner.

Third place went to Sean Purton, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Purton, 1560 Etruria St.

First place was worth a $50 bond with a $25 bond for second and $10 in savings stamps for third.

Acting to prevent a repetition of a mob scene at the 1961 event when unruly parents broke lines and rushed their youngsters forward to receive gifts, the picnic committee changed its procedure this year.

Lining up girls on one side of the stage and boys on the other, the two lines paraded to the center of the orchestra stand to receive their gifts and then walked down a center ramp.

Each girl received a baby doll with a blue or pink dress while the boys were given toy tommyguns capable of firing single shots or in bursts of 50.

One tow-headed youngster, who apparently wanted a baseball glove or a holster set, prizes awarded in recent years, refused to accept the tommygun, but finally was persuaded by his mother and a committeeman.

Between the baby show and the bathing beauty contest, youngsters in three age brackets scrambled for 2,500 in pennies tossed onto the ballroom floor by committeemen.

There also was free dancing for a two-hour period.

The picnic committee headed by Albert Kenst of Salem, chairman, and Roy Masker of East Liverpool, secretary, was among the first to arrive on the grounds to complete final details.

Committee members were at the park about 8:30 in the morning and stayed until early Sunday as the crowd departed. Besides handling last-minute details, the committee also prepared and dispensed coffee by the cup throughout the day and into family-size containers for both the noon and evening meals.

Algiers

extremists Sunday that they were ending their bloody feud to join forces in building a new Algieria.

Through Dr. Chewki Mostefai, FLN representative in the provisional Algierian executive, the Moslem nationalists promised an amnesty for the secret army terrorists who have killed an estimated 2,000 Moslems in the year or more that they have been operating. European settlers were promised a new future in the Moslem-led Algieria that will emerge from a referendum July 1.

Details of the agreement still must be worked out. The secret army broadcast called on the terrorist commandos to remain vigilant while holding their fire. "We have been cheated many times in the past," the announcer said.

At Montbeliard, France, touring President Charles de Gaulle called the announcement "a decisive day for an agreement between the two communities, Moslem and Christian."

But in Paris, Marc Laurol, a deputy from Algiers and often a spokesman for right-wing Europeans, told newsmen, "I can tell you that I have nothing in common with what has just taken place in Algieria."

A former medical student, Jean-Jacques Susini, 28, represented the secret army in the negotiations. It was reported that Susini, Algerian-born, had the backing of at least two deserter colonels, Yves Godart and Jean Gardes.

Weary and tense Europeans were uncertain as to what attitude they should adopt.

Some felt Mostefai's announcement was not enough. They wanted a pledge by the nationalist government in exile in Tunis.

There was no immediate statement from the Tunis leaders.

Strike

of the Air Line Pilots Association to meet with him this morning.

Last week the Flight Engineers International Association, AFL-CIO, postponed a strike against TWA and two other major carriers, Pan Amerian World Airways and Eastern Air Lines, while Goldberg and a team of federal mediators tried to work out a settlement. The talks failed, but President Kennedy issued a stern warning to the flight engineers to settle the dispute without a strike.

Union President R. A. Brown took note of the President's admonition in a statement Sunday. He said the strike would be limited to TWA "out of respect for the concern of the President over the balance of payments situation and our concern for the unemployment hardships which would be inflicted on a large number of airline employes."

TWA carries slightly more than 10 per cent of overseas-bound travel and services 18 foreign countries as well as 70 points across the United States.

The line employs 600 flight engineers and 20,000 workers in all.

The flight engineers are involved in a two-front war—with the rival pilots union and with the three carriers—over the makeup of jet cockpit crews.

A presidential fact-finding commission recommended two years ago that the crews be reduced from four to three men. The airlines propose carrying two pilots with the third man in the cockpit a combination engineer-pilot. The two unions have been arguing over which of them should represent this third crew member.

Kennedy has proposed that the issue be submitted to arbitration by a neutral panel. The airlines have agreed but the flight engineers have not.

Wellsville Ends Work Of 'Smoothing' Street

The "smoothing" of Buckeye Ave. in Wellsville has been completed.

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said the entire street has been graded and coated.

The first section of Buckeye, one of the roughest streets in town, was done about two weeks ago. The director said the sections from 10th to 14th Sts. and from Henry Ave. to 25th St. were graded Thursday. An oil coating was applied Friday.

The street then was given two separate coats of asphalt emulsion and slag and rolled after each coat to form a heavy seal, Baldasare said. Buckeye from 3rd to 10h St. was done previously.

A heavy grader was used to cut down the ruts and high spots before the other work was done. This is part of the program which Baldasare had outlined in December.

Buckeye from 14th to Henry already was blacktopped.

The diabetes death rate has varied but little in the past few years, fluctuating about the level of 15 per 100,000.

The "smoothing" of Buckeye Ave. in Wellsville has been completed.

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said the entire street has been graded and coated.

The first section of Buckeye, one of the roughest streets in town, was done about two weeks ago. The director said the sections from 10th to 14th Sts. and from Henry Ave. to 25th St. were graded Thursday. An oil coating was applied Friday.

The street then was given two separate coats of asphalt emulsion and slag and rolled after each coat to form a heavy seal, Baldasare said. Buckeye from 3rd to 10h St. was done previously.

A heavy grader was used to cut down the ruts and high spots before the other work was done. This is part of the program which Baldasare had outlined in December.

Buckeye from 14th to Henry already was blacktopped.

The diabetes death rate has varied but little in the past few years, fluctuating about the level of 15 per 100,000.

Give Everything Its Right Name

"The new circumstances under which we are placed call for new words, new phrases and the transfer of old words to new objects."

Mr. Kennedy's paraphrase went like this: "Let us not engage in the wrong argument at the wrong time, between the wrong people in the wrong country, while the real problems of our time grow and multiply, fertilized by neglect."

Or, to borrow the best of both ways of saying it, we could sum it up like this: Let's learn what we're talking about, then define our common purposes and give them their right names.

FAILURE to do this has been a scandalous omission during the middle third of the 20th century. American debate has been a babel of capitalism, socialism, laissez faire, authoritarian control, reaction, liberalism, Keynesian spendology, conservatism, feudalism, state capitalism, stand-pattism reform and faddism—all called something else.

It hasn't been the wide variety of ideas that was confusing and wrong. It has been the fact so many people who espoused ideas didn't know what they were doing. Capitalists talked about the evil of communism, then carried on practices that contained the essence of the Marxist materialism they said they hated.

Liberals preached so long on the same text, forgetting the world was still moving ahead, that they became more reactionary than the reactionaries they said they were fighting.

And everybody has chuckled about hardheaded business executives who boast they are the finest flowers of conservatism yet in their business practices are wild radicals and far-famed for it among their peers, who envy their verve and imagination.

IN ANY society at any given moment there are going practices, practices that have grown archaic and being proposed as improvements.

In the United States, the going practice is best described as profit-and-loss capitalism—a game of financial chance played in the hope of profit and the expectation of occasional loss.

It stands to reason that government at all levels should be in harmony with the economic system that produces its revenue. All public policy should be fashioned to favor all going practices within the law.

Yet in the United States for nearly a third of a century there has been endless pulling and hauling between profit-and-loss capitalism and a faction in government hostile to the economic system that underpins the national economy. It has been a crazy juxtaposition of irreconcilable positions, and it has cost the United States dearly.

It is as though Americans lacked the composite intelligence to understand which side their bread was buttered on. This is the problem being attacked by President Kennedy. His critics haven't been to sure he himself knows which side the butter is on, and he is trying to reassure them.

THERE IS NO job here for another study commission, but 180 million Americans need to make up their minds about what they want to do and how to go about doing it.

If they learned what they were talking about, then defined their common purposes, using all the right names, most of the confusion would stop. It isn't differences of opinion that are confusing Americans. It's practices that differ from opinions.

If Mr. Kennedy is trying to get us to define our common purposes and give all our practices their correct names, he's moving in the right direction.

Stretching The Military Imagination

Don't be surprised if the man-in-space program that transcends all others and will open the way for a man on the moon turns military.

The Defense Department now has undertaken a study to draft an enlarged space program whose ultimate effect might be to squeeze out the civilian control set up during the Eisenhower administration and maintained so far during the Kennedy administration.

In the future, the Shepards, Grissoms, Glenns and Carpenters who pioneer in space flight may be military men participating in a military program, instead of military men on detached duty in a civilian program.

The Air Force has been advocating attention to the military potentialities of space for years. Although no one can say at this time that any danger exists or that any danger is likely to exist in the near future, it is the nature of the modern military mind to think of all the dangers that might exist.

This is in contrast with the nature of the previous military mind, which in the United States was clinging to cavalry, harbor guns and close order drill at the outset of the World War II blitzkreig; which disregarded newfangled radar warnings of the attack on Pearl Harbor; which lined up bombers in the Philippines in neat rows days after the Japanese had struck in the Pacific. In France it was entranched in the Maginot Line. In Britain it was dug into the "tight little island." The admirals scoffed at the theory that aerial bombs had made battlewagons obsolete. The infantrymen pooh-poohed the suggestion that trench warfare would not occur again.

The space program has changed all that. The sky is no longer the limit. Space is infinite. It goes without saying that the military mind has no intention of being left in the earth's atmosphere if there is any possibility of maneuvering in space.

A Query About Baling

Back on the farm, when this was chiefly an agricultural society, the handiest material for patching up something when it broke was baling wire.

It used to be commonplace to hear someone say an old jalopy was "held together by baling wire." But as industrialization has taken over, the way it is said now is "bucket of bolts."

Every man mends with the material at hand. The plumber uses pipe and solder, the carpenter wood and nails, the electrician wire, the sailor rope, the doctor and nurse adhesive tape, and the office worker paper clips and Cellophane tape.

One explanation of the origin of Cellophane, by the way, is that it is produced much the same way as silk is produced. Instead of silk worms, tape worms are used and they are fed cellulose, instead of Mulberry leaves. Well, anyway, Cellophane mends everything from broken ear pieces on eyeglasses to broken chess pieces.

One office worker reports satisfaction from using a pin and a paperclip for two common problems of the day. This fellow wears glasses and has a wristwatch, and every year or two the little screw that holds the ear piece to the frame of his glasses comes out and disappears, and the tiny rod on the buckle of his watchband breaks.

He has found that an ordinary straight pin inserted in place of the screw works wonders in restoring the ear piece to his glasses, with the pin bent around the hinge where the pin protrudes. He admits this may be tough on the threads which held the screw in place but has found the pin is next to invisible and lasts for years.

To replace the little post which goes through the strap on the buckle of his wristwatch he fashions a new rod from a paperclip.

No people still using baling wire?

The inexorable logic that has controlled my whole life causes me to be going to England by way of Paris.

Paris got into it because the lady I say "OO-la-la" with said if she got that close to Paris and didn't see it, she would be permanently underprivileged.

So she will see as much of Paris as she can take in on a stopover en route to London, then to Oxford, where our older son and his wife have been living since last September while he worked on a dissertation for a doctorate in English literature.

This was where the inexorable logic of events began — when his application for a Fulbright grant to study at Oxford was accepted and plans were made to go to England last August.

People we scarcely knew sought us out and said, as though there could be no argument about it, "Of course you'll be going to visit your children while they are in Oxford."

The idea hadn't crossed our minds. But we never had a chance to get away from it.

By Christmas, people were making plans for our journey. They were telling us where to stay, where to eat and what to do. Relatives even bought us matched airplane luggage and made it clear it was for "our trip to England."

We had to accept the inevitability of a thing we never actually decided to do. It became clear that not to do it would put the mark of Cain on us. We would be accused of parental indifference, even hostility. Logic had overpowered reason.

The Oxonians kept saying that as soon as the weather turned clement they would be expecting us. We can't remember when we first began to say, "When we go to England" instead of "IF we go to England," but it must have been about Groundhog Day.

That's why we'll go to Paris en route to England. This will be the last column for three weeks. Our schedule is going to be snug; we are not scheduled to return until bedtime of the last day.

Aside from Paris, we expect to see enough of England to get the feel of the place. We'll be looking, listening and taking it all in as short-term visitors, not as look-and-run tourists. And we'll be doing it under the tutelage of two people who now think of themselves as habitues.

We are going to see England by car, now a common practice. If all goes well and we remember to zig left instead of right in a pinch, this column will run to transoceanic jet airplanes, Paris, London — and England —when it's resumed next month.

Cheerio!

If the weather bureau fools you once in awhile and you are caught in the rain, instead of complaining, be glad that you have a weather bureau at all. Only about one-fifth of the globe is covered by any regular observational and weather-reporting systems.

A Look At The Medicare Fight

By Rowland Evans Jr.

WASHINGTON

At least one widely known Democratic senator turned down a request to take part in the administration's medical care spectacular two weeks ago.

"Wrong time, wrong place," he remarked wryly.

The senator seems to have been right about the timing, because believe it or not the President's appeal to the nation, television and all, failed to set off any fireworks.

It started a fire, all right, but it was a back fire, in the opinion of those who will have to vote on the issue.

As a result, it is now almost as certain as death and taxes that Congress will not pass the administration's bill providing hospital and nursing care to the millions of Americans who are 65 or older—not this year.

THE ODDS ON passage this year of the most politically loaded bill in the administration's program never were high anyway. This makes the President's decision to "go to the country", and engage his full prestige, somewhat dubious.

As a matter of fact, a high official in the Eisenhower White House, who once helped decide the proper time for Gen. Eisenhower to risk his prestige, was astonished that President Kennedy agreed to make his big pitch with the odds stacked against him.

There are compensating factors, however. By giving the issue a dramatic personal turn, the President has made it a vital campaign point for dozens of Democratic candidates this fall who are running for Congress in urban areas.

The medical care bill is strictly a city issue, and the cities are where the Democrats hope to win big enough to keep or expand their majorities in Congress.

The same strategy governed the administration when it pushed its Urban Affairs Department against overwhelming odds in Congress. Leaving aside the merits of the new department, it had appeal in the cities and suburbs, which are suffocating under old - fashioned laws and facilities that were made for another era.

THE POLITICAL THRUST of this Administration is always toward the cities, and it's no wonder. That's where up to 70 per cent of the people live, and that's where the voting strength lies. This will be more true tomorrow than it was yesterday.

In the famous Tennessee case, the Supreme Court took note of disproportionate electoral weight in rural areas and the result is going to be a slow increase in the value of the city vote from now on in the state legislatures.

This, in turn, will put into better perspective the plight of the cities, and the ramifications are likely to reach Congress.

So the Democrats aren't steeped in gloom about the President's failure to rouse the AMA and start a powerful groundswell of sentiment for his health for the aged bill.

There may be a groundswell, but its surge won't be felt when the House Ways and Means Committee votes on the bill in the next couple of weeks.

There are 25 members on that committee. The 10 Republicans are solidly against the administration's King-Anderson Bill. No more than 9 or 10 of the 15 Democrats are now for it. And only 2 of the other Democrats are regarded as "possibles", and not very possible at that.

But the geographic breakdown of those who will vote for the bill is revealing: King of Los Angeles, O'Brien of Chicago, Boggs of New Orleans, Keogh of Brooklyn, Karaten of St. Louis, Burke of the Boston suburbs, Green of Philadelphia, Martha Griffiths of Detroit—big city boys and girls every one.

THE OTHER DEMOCRAT who is committed to the bill is Ullman of Oregon, a dyed-in-the-wool liberal Democrat. Herlong of Florida may be a reluctant 10th vote, but it takes 13 to make a majority.

The Republicans began to get agitated last December about the political consequences of their opposition to the bill. Hurried calls went out from the Republican National Committee. Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the national chairman, endorsed a flimsy Republican substitute that no one took seriously.

But Rep. John Lindsay, a Manhattan Republican, went to work on a Rockefeller-Lindsay Bill, using the Social Security tax principles but with a couple of new features, and Sen. Jacob Javits produced a bill of his own in the Senate.

Accordingly, it can't be doubted that the health for the aged bill packs a political wallop in the big cities, where most of the nation's 17 million old people live and where the election of 1962 will be decided.

President Kennedy may have lost prestige in "going to the people" but he crystalized a campaign issue where it counts.

A Staple Item

Newspapers are regarded as an essential of modern daily life — as much a staple as milk and bread.

A recent survey showed, in fact, that more copies of daily newspapers are sold in the United States each day than bottles of milk or loaves of bread.

The world has about 30,000 newspapers, including 8,000 dailies, with a total circulation of more than 250 million copies.

At one time, however, only three "newspapers" existed and they were merely handwritten daily notices posted in public places in ancient Rome. The Acta Diurna, Acta Senatus and Acta Publica gave official news of the late Roman Republic and early Empire.

The first Chinese newspaper was a court gazette founded in the T'ang Dynasty (A.D. 618-907). It survived until the 1930's, spanning the ages from handwriting to printing from blocks and then movable metal type.

The introduction of printing from movable type in the mid-15th century spurred the development of newspapers in Europe.

A monthly printed newspaper, Notizie Scritte, appeared in Venice in 1562 as an expansion of the old daily notices. The Venetian paper sold for one small coin, a gazzetta, a word that soon became a synonym for newspaper.

The Indonesian island of Celebes was first visited by Portuguese in 1512. The Dutch began trading there in the 17th Century. In World War II Celebes was occupied by the Japanese, bombed by the Americans and surrendered to the Australians.

Evading The Issue

By David Lawrence

Nation Seen In Need Of Economic Guide

President Kennedy missed at his Thursday news conference another opportunity to clear the air. Instead, he spoke vaguely and briefly about the problems that have been adversely affecting the national economy. He repeated his previous observation about the need to study fiscal problems.

David Lawrence

Even as Mr. Kennedy spoke, the stock market in New York City was recording a drop of from $6 to $8 billion in the value of stocks and was reaching the lowest point since last December —a decline of more than $126 billion.

Not a question was asked the President about the downward trend in business as revealed in the latest report, issued jointly by the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission. The United Press International had summed up the report, 24 hours before the news conference, as follows:

"Sales and profits of manufacturing corporations dropped in the first three months of the year, the government reported today.

"It said the sales decline was a normal seasonal pattern. But the drop in profits was greater than would have been expected on the basis of the fall in sales, 'reflecting continued pressure on profit margins.'

"The profit margin per sales dollar shrank 4.3 cents, compared to 4.8 cents in the last three months of 1961. . . .

"It said manufacturing corporations sales dipped by $2.4 billion in the March quarter to $92.8 billion. Profits before taxes were off $700 million to $7.4 billion. After-tax profits dropped by $600 million to $4 billion.

"The sharpest profit declines were sustained by producers of furniture, lumber and wood products, stone-clay-glass products, alcoholic beverages and clothing. Only aircraft and drug makers showed significant profit improvements during the quarter, the report said."

Now, it is obvious that it doesn't matter much what yardstick is used to measure the value of stocks — whether it is 15 times earnings, as Secretary of the Treasury Dillon suggested the other day, or 20 to 24 times as the scale has been—if the earnings start downward.

THE PUBLIC has been buying stocks on the expectation that earnings are coming down. Hence values decline, too.

To say that stocks have been overpriced would mean something if earnings remained the same. But if the yardstick is being changed, even as the earnings are shrinking, it becomes increasingly difficult to feel confidence in the immediate future of the economy.

This is why, when the President of the United States has the opportunity to appear before the press and the television cameras, he is expected to tell the people what the government — the biggest single factor in the national economy — is going to do.

Confidence or lack of confidence is not a matter of personal likes or dislikes or political antagonism toward an administration by businessmen.

Confidence really is related directly to what the government does about taxes and tax regulations, tariffs, wages and prices.

It is related fundamentally to the question of whether the government is pursuing a sound fiscal policy and balancing its budget.

The president at his news conference pointed to the economic progress made in Europe in recent years as if it were something worth studying to get some hints for our own government.

THE TRUTH is that countries like France and Germany got rid of most of their war debt by repudiation or revaluation of their currencies. Also, America handed over plenty of money for foreign aid.

If Uncle Sam could find some good Samaritan to wipe out our enormous national debt, which is costing more than $8 billion a year in interest alone, and if some of these very prosperous European nations began to share the foreign aid burden with the United States more equitably than they do now, America also might move toward a healthy economy.

But the idea of paying off debt is now supposed to be a stereotyped view and just one of those obsolete doctrines that have to be scrapped as the "sophisticated" theoreticians see it. That's what is weakening the confidence of the American businessman.

The administration hasn't found out yet that business really wants only a chance to earn a reasonable profit. Manufacturing companies in the United States just a little more than a decade ago — in 1950 — were earning a profit of around 7.1 cents after taxes on every sales dollar. Now the profit is down to 6.4 cents.

Governmental interference in the economy and its tampering recently with the price structure —which accentuated the stock market decline — might perhaps be termed academic matters now if the administration itself only showed some signs of understanding what's really happening to wipe out the values of American businesses in the markets of today.

Life On Mars?

By Earl Ubell

Who hasn't wondered about the possibility of creatures and plants on other heavenly bodies? Everybody has heard of Martians and even seen a few in the drawings of our latter-day cartoonists: the other-world creatures being little hooded men with three or more eyes depending on the artist's taste.

Despite all the fun and fiction, the problem of life on Mars has intrigued some of the foremost astronomers and biologists. Even Percival Lowell, the great turn-of-the-century American astronomer, believed human beings built the "canals" on Mars.

Basically, there is something suggestive of life in the changing landscape of that red and green planetary neighbor of ours. It's difficult to explain it on physical or chemical grounds.

But if anything grows at all, it must survive some pretty rugged conditions. The environment has been described—based on telescopic measurements—as the Gobi Desert raised to the altitude of Mount Everest. The atmosphere contains less than one per cent of the water vapor and oxygen of our earthly air.

Dr. S. M. Siegel, a researcher for the Union Carbide Research Institute at Tarrytown, N.Y., not only believes plants can survive such rigors but has proved it by growing some 35 different species of plants under Martian conditions.

"I think it is entirely possible that Martian life may be comparable to the life we have here on Earth," Dr. Siegel said in an interview. "Of course it may look different because it has had to adapt to different conditions."

Dr. Siegel's surmise is not new. Last April, Dr. Frank Salisbury, of Colorado State University, Fort Collins, marshalled some impressive circumstantial arguments along the same lines in a review article in "Science," the magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

After consideration of all the evidence, Dr. Salisbury concluded that life provides the best explanation for the various color changes seen on the planet's surface during the various seasons. For example, living forms only could emerge from the covering of yellow dust clouds which wander over the face of the planet from time to time.

Dr. Salisbury did not rule out the remote possibility that even intelligent beings might inhabit the planet. He reports that some observers have seen flashes of bright light followed by a white cloud. "Was this volcanic activity," he asked, "or are the Martians now engaged in debates about the long-term effects of nuclear fallout."

Now Dr. Siegel adds experimental fuel to Dr. Salisbury's theoretical fire. For example, in his latest experiments, reported in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, he has made winter rye seedlings germinate under Martian conditions.

To be sure, they grow slowly, the common belief that plants need high levels of oxygen to grow. Of course, he has not carried a plant through the whole cycle of growth and many species cannot germinate.

In growing under conditions of low oxygen, the chemical composition of the plant changes. Bean plants, for example, get sweeter. With more sugars they are able to resist freezing more readily because the sugar acts as an anti-freeze.

Furthermore, the shape of the plants may change.

The Defense Department now has undertaken a study to draft an enlarged space program whose ultimate effect might be to squeeze out the civilian control set up during the Eisenhower administration and maintained so far during the Kennedy administration.

In the future, the Shepards, Grissoms, Glenns and Carpenters who pioneer in space flight may be military men participating in a military program, instead of military men on detached duty in a civilian program.

The Air Force has been advocating attention to the military potentialities of space for years. Although no one can say at this time that any danger exists or that any danger is likely to exist in the near future, it is the nature of the modern military mind to think of all the dangers that might exist.

This is in contrast with the nature of the previous military mind, which in the United States was clinging to cavalry, harbor guns and close order drill at the outset of the World War II blitzkreig; which disregarded newfangled radar warnings of the attack on Pearl Harbor; which lined up bombers in the Philippines in neat rows days after the Japanese had struck in the Pacific. In France it was entranched in the Maginot Line. In Britain it was dug into the "tight little island." The admirals scoffed at the theory that aerial bombs had made battlewagons obsolete. The infantrymen pooh-poohed the suggestion that trench warfare would not occur again.

The space program has changed all that. The sky is no longer the limit. Space is infinite. It goes without saying that the military mind has no intention of being left in the earth's atmosphere if there is any possibility of maneuvering in space.

A Query About Baling

Back on the farm, when this was chiefly an agricultural society, the handiest material for patching up something when it broke was baling wire.

It used to be commonplace to hear someone say an old jalopy was "held together by baling wire." But as industrialization has taken over, the way it is said now is "bucket of bolts."

Every man mends with the material at hand. The plumber uses pipe and solder, the carpenter wood and nails, the electrician wire, the sailor rope, the doctor and nurse adhesive tape, and the office worker paper clips and Cellophane tape.

One explanation of the origin of Cellophane, by the way, is that it is produced much the same way as silk is produced. Instead of silk worms, tape worms are used and they are fed cellulose, instead of Mulberry leaves. Well, anyway, Cellophane mends everything from broken ear pieces on eyeglasses to broken chess pieces.

One office worker reports satisfaction from using a pin and a paperclip for two common problems of the day. This fellow wears glasses and has a wristwatch, and every year or two the little screw that holds the ear piece to the frame of his glasses comes out and disappears, and the tiny rod on the buckle of his watchband breaks.

He has found that an ordinary straight pin inserted in place of the screw works wonders in restoring the ear piece to his glasses, with the pin bent around the hinge where the pin protrudes. He admits this may be tough on the threads which held the screw in place but has found the pin is next to invisible and lasts for years.

To replace the little post which goes through the strap on the buckle of his wristwatch he fashions a new rod from a paperclip.

No people still using baling wire?

The inexorable logic that has controlled my whole life causes me to be going to England by way of Paris.

Paris got into it because the lady I say "OO-la-la" with said if she got that close to Paris and didn't see it, she would be permanently underprivileged.

So she will see as much of Paris as she can take in on a stopover en route to London, then to Oxford, where our older son and his wife have been living since last September while he worked on a dissertation for a doctorate in English literature.

This was where the inexorable logic of events began — when his application for a Fulbright grant to study at Oxford was accepted and plans were made to go to England last August.

People we scarcely knew sought us out and said, as though there could be no argument about it, "Of course you'll be going to visit your children while they are in Oxford."

The idea hadn't crossed our minds. But we never had a chance to get away from it.

By Christmas, people were making plans for our journey. They were telling us where to stay, where to eat and what to do. Relatives even bought us matched airplane luggage and made it clear it was for "our trip to England."

We had to accept the inevitability of a thing we never actually decided to do. It became clear that not to do it would put the mark of Cain on us. We would be accused of parental indifference, even hostility. Logic had overpowered reason.

The Oxonians kept saying that as soon as the weather turned clement they would be expecting us. We can't remember when we first began to say, "When we go to England" instead of "IF we go to England," but it must have been about Groundhog Day.

That's why we'll go to Paris en route to England. This will be the last column for three weeks. Our schedule is going to be snug; we are not scheduled to return until bedtime of the last day.

Aside from Paris, we expect to see enough of England to get the feel of the place. We'll be looking, listening and taking it all in as short-term visitors, not as look-and-run tourists. And we'll be doing it under the tutelage of two people who now think of themselves as habitues.

We are going to see England by car, now a common practice. If all goes well and we remember to zig left instead of right in a pinch, this column will run to transoceanic jet airplanes, Paris, London — and England —when it's resumed next month.

Cheerio!

If the weather bureau fools you once in awhile and you are caught in the rain, instead of complaining, be glad that you have a weather bureau at all. Only about one-fifth of the globe is covered by any regular observational and weather-reporting systems.

A Look At The Medicare Fight

By Rowland Evans Jr.

WASHINGTON

At least one widely known Democratic senator turned down a request to take part in the administration's medical care spectacular two weeks ago.

"Wrong time, wrong place," he remarked wryly.

The senator seems to have been right about the timing, because believe it or not the President's appeal to the nation, television and all, failed to set off any fireworks.

It started a fire, all right, but it was a back fire, in the opinion of those who will have to vote on the issue.

As a result, it is now almost as certain as death and taxes that Congress will not pass the administration's bill providing hospital and nursing care to the millions of Americans who are 65 or older—not this year.

THE ODDS ON passage this year of the most politically loaded bill in the administration's program never were high anyway. This makes the President's decision to "go to the country", and engage his full prestige, somewhat dubious.

As a matter of fact, a high official in the Eisenhower White House, who once helped decide the proper time for Gen. Eisenhower to risk his prestige, was astonished that President Kennedy agreed to make his big pitch with the odds stacked against him.

There are compensating factors, however. By giving the issue a dramatic personal turn, the President has made it a vital campaign point for dozens of Democratic candidates this fall who are running for Congress in urban areas.

The medical care bill is strictly a city issue, and the cities are where the Democrats hope to win big enough to keep or expand their majorities in Congress.

The same strategy governed the administration when it pushed its Urban Affairs Department against overwhelming odds in Congress. Leaving aside the merits of the new department, it had appeal in the cities and suburbs, which are suffocating under old - fashioned laws and facilities that were made for another era.

THE POLITICAL THRUST of this Administration is always toward the cities, and it's no wonder. That's where up to 70 per cent of the people live, and that's where the voting strength lies. This will be more true tomorrow than it was yesterday.

In the famous Tennessee case, the Supreme Court took note of disproportionate electoral weight in rural areas and the result is going to be a slow increase in the value of the city vote from now on in the state legislatures.

This, in turn, will put into better perspective the plight of the cities, and the ramifications are likely to reach Congress.

So the Democrats aren't steeped in gloom about the President's failure to rouse the AMA and start a powerful groundswell of sentiment for his health for the aged bill.

There may be a groundswell, but its surge won't be felt when the House Ways and Means Committee votes on the bill in the next couple of weeks.

There are 25 members on that committee. The 10 Republicans are solidly against the administration's King-Anderson Bill. No more than 9 or 10 of the 15 Democrats are now for it. And only 2 of the other Democrats are regarded as "possibles", and not very possible at that.

But the geographic breakdown of those who will vote for the bill is revealing: King of Los Angeles, O'Brien of Chicago, Boggs of New Orleans, Keogh of Brooklyn, Karaten of St. Louis, Burke of the Boston suburbs, Green of Philadelphia, Martha Griffiths of Detroit—big city boys and girls every one.

THE OTHER DEMOCRAT who is committed to the bill is Ullman of Oregon, a dyed-in-the-wool liberal Democrat. Herlong of Florida may be a reluctant 10th vote, but it takes 13 to make a majority.

The Republicans began to get agitated last December about the political consequences of their opposition to the bill. Hurried calls went out from the Republican National Committee. Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the national chairman, endorsed a flimsy Republican substitute that no one took seriously.

But Rep. John Lindsay, a Manhattan Republican, went to work on a Rockefeller-Lindsay Bill, using the Social Security tax principles but with a couple of new features, and Sen. Jacob Javits produced a bill of his own in the Senate.

Accordingly, it can't be doubted that the health for the aged bill packs a political wallop in the big cities, where most of the nation's 17 million old people live and where the election of 1962 will be decided.

President Kennedy may have lost prestige in "going to the people" but he crystalized a campaign issue where it counts.

A Staple Item

Newspapers are regarded as an essential of modern daily life — as much a staple as milk and bread.

A recent survey showed, in fact, that more copies of daily newspapers are sold in the United States each day than bottles of milk or loaves of bread.

The world has about 30,000 newspapers, including 8,000 dailies, with a total circulation of more than 250 million copies.

At one time, however, only three "newspapers" existed and they were merely handwritten daily notices posted in public places in ancient Rome. The Acta Diurna, Acta Senatus and Acta Publica gave official news of the late Roman Republic and early Empire.

The first Chinese newspaper was a court gazette founded in the T'ang Dynasty (A.D. 618-907). It survived until the 1930's, spanning the ages from handwriting to printing from blocks and then movable metal type.

The introduction of printing from movable type in the mid-15th century spurred the development of newspapers in Europe.

A monthly printed newspaper, Notizie Scritte, appeared in Venice in 1562 as an expansion of the old daily notices. The Venetian paper sold for one small coin, a gazzetta, a word that soon became a synonym for newspaper.

The Indonesian island of Celebes was first visited by Portuguese in 1512. The Dutch began trading there in the 17th Century. In World War II Celebes was occupied by the Japanese, bombed by the Americans and surrendered to the Australians.

Evading The Issue

By David Lawrence

Nation Seen In Need Of Economic Guide

President Kennedy missed at his Thursday news conference another opportunity to clear the air. Instead, he spoke vaguely and briefly about the problems that have been adversely affecting the national economy. He repeated his previous observation about the need to study fiscal problems.

David Lawrence

Even as Mr. Kennedy spoke, the stock market in New York City was recording a drop of from $6 to $8 billion in the value of stocks and was reaching the lowest point since last December —a decline of more than $126 billion.

Not a question was asked the President about the downward trend in business as revealed in the latest report, issued jointly by the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission. The United Press International had summed up the report, 24 hours before the news conference, as follows:

"Sales and profits of manufacturing corporations dropped in the first three months of the year, the government reported today.

"It said the sales decline was a normal seasonal pattern. But the drop in profits was greater than would have been expected on the basis of the fall in sales, 'reflecting continued pressure on profit margins.'

"The profit margin per sales dollar shrank 4.3 cents, compared to 4.8 cents in the last three months of 1961. . . .

"It said manufacturing corporations sales dipped by $2.4 billion in the March quarter to $92.8 billion. Profits before taxes were off $700 million to $7.4 billion. After-tax profits dropped by $600 million to $4 billion.

"The sharpest profit declines were sustained by producers of furniture, lumber and wood products, stone-clay-glass products, alcoholic beverages and clothing. Only aircraft and drug makers showed significant profit improvements during the quarter, the report said."

Now, it is obvious that it doesn't matter much what yardstick is used to measure the value of stocks — whether it is 15 times earnings, as Secretary of the Treasury Dillon suggested the other day, or 20 to 24 times as the scale has been—if the earnings start downward.

THE PUBLIC has been buying stocks on the expectation that earnings are coming down. Hence values decline, too.

To say that stocks have been overpriced would mean something if earnings remained the same. But if the yardstick is being changed, even as the earnings are shrinking, it becomes increasingly difficult to feel confidence in the immediate future of the economy.

This is why, when the President of the United States has the opportunity to appear before the press and the television cameras, he is expected to tell the people what the government — the biggest single factor in the national economy — is going to do.

Confidence or lack of confidence is not a matter of personal likes or dislikes or political antagonism toward an administration by businessmen.

Confidence really is related directly to what the government does about taxes and tax regulations, tariffs, wages and prices.

It is related fundamentally to the question of whether the government is pursuing a sound fiscal policy and balancing its budget.

The president at his news conference pointed to the economic progress made in Europe in recent years as if it were something worth studying to get some hints for our own government.

THE TRUTH is that countries like France and Germany got rid of most of their war debt by repudiation or revaluation of their currencies. Also, America handed over plenty of money for foreign aid.

If Uncle Sam could find some good Samaritan to wipe out our enormous national debt, which is costing more than $8 billion a year in interest alone, and if some of these very prosperous European nations began to share the foreign aid burden with the United States more equitably than they do now, America also might move toward a healthy economy.

But the idea of paying off debt is now supposed to be a stereotyped view and just one of those obsolete doctrines that have to be scrapped as the "sophisticated" theoreticians see it. That's what is weakening the confidence of the American businessman.

The administration hasn't found out yet that business really wants only a chance to earn a reasonable profit. Manufacturing companies in the United States just a little more than a decade ago — in 1950 — were earning a profit of around 7.1 cents after taxes on every sales dollar. Now the profit is down to 6.4 cents.

Governmental interference in the economy and its tampering recently with the price structure —which accentuated the stock market decline — might perhaps be termed academic matters now if the administration itself only showed some signs of understanding what's really happening to wipe out the values of American businesses in the markets of today.

Life On Mars?

By Earl Ubell

Who hasn't wondered about the possibility of creatures and plants on other heavenly bodies? Everybody has heard of Martians and even seen a few in the drawings of our latter-day cartoonists: the other-world creatures being little hooded men with three or more eyes depending on the artist's taste.

Despite all the fun and fiction, the problem of life on Mars has intrigued some of the foremost astronomers and biologists. Even Percival Lowell, the great turn-of-the-century American astronomer, believed human beings built the "canals" on Mars.

Basically, there is something suggestive of life in the changing landscape of that red and green planetary neighbor of ours. It's difficult to explain it on physical or chemical grounds.

But if anything grows at all, it must survive some pretty rugged conditions. The environment has been described—based on telescopic measurements—as the Gobi Desert raised to the altitude of Mount Everest. The atmosphere contains less than one per cent of the water vapor and oxygen of our earthly air.

Dr. S. M. Siegel, a researcher for the Union Carbide Research Institute at Tarrytown, N.Y., not only believes plants can survive such rigors but has proved it by growing some 35 different species of plants under Martian conditions.

"I think it is entirely possible that Martian life may be comparable to the life we have here on Earth," Dr. Siegel said in an interview. "Of course it may look different because it has had to adapt to different conditions."

Dr. Siegel's surmise is not new. Last April, Dr. Frank Salisbury, of Colorado State University, Fort Collins, marshalled some impressive circumstantial arguments along the same lines in a review article in "Science," the magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

After consideration of all the evidence, Dr. Salisbury concluded that life provides the best explanation for the various color changes seen on the planet's surface during the various seasons. For example, living forms only could emerge from the covering of yellow dust clouds which wander over the face of the planet from time to time.

Dr. Salisbury did not rule out the remote possibility that even intelligent beings might inhabit the planet. He reports that some observers have seen flashes of bright light followed by a white cloud. "Was this volcanic activity," he asked, "or are the Martians now engaged in debates about the long-term effects of nuclear fallout."

Now Dr. Siegel adds experimental fuel to Dr. Salisbury's theoretical fire. For example, in his latest experiments, reported in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, he has made winter rye seedlings germinate under Martian conditions.

To be sure, they grow slowly, the common belief that plants need high levels of oxygen to grow. Of course, he has not carried a plant through the whole cycle of growth and many species cannot germinate.

In growing under conditions of low oxygen, the chemical composition of the plant changes. Bean plants, for example, get sweeter. With more sugars they are able to resist freezing more readily because the sugar acts as an anti-freeze.

Furthermore, the shape of the plants may change.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Cooking for two can be a difficult job because of leftovers. So . . . when I remove a package of frozer vegetables from my freezer I just cut it in two. I cook only half of the box and put the other half back in the freezer. Eliminates leftovers.

We keep worn leather gloves for two purposes. We keep a pair in the shoeshine kit so that before we polish our shoes we can put them on. This eliminates soiled hands and the nearly impossible task of removing some types of shoe polish.

Some worn leather gloves, which have only the finger tips abused, can be cut off and used for golf gloves, which are expensive. The "home-mades" always fit beautifully, too.

The end of a cork (the kind used for a bottle stopper) may be dipped in scouring powder and used to scour non-stainless steel knives. Removes rust marks, brings the knife back to its original lustre and also sharpens the knife.

Join The Crowd

DEAR HELOISE:

Yesterday I had two spray cans that the fizz went out of before they were half empty, my vacuum cleaner bag broke and the hot water heater went kaflooey. Do you ever have days like this? I just can't take it.

USUAL HOUSEWIFE

DEAR ONE OF US:

Yesterday, I went to the freezer for a loaf of bread. Someone had left the freezer door open and I had to stop and cook all the meat — pork chops, roasts, turkey, chickens, lobster and hamburger! Boy, was I mad! (I made TV dinners from it all).

A hot dutch oven of barbecued ribs was waiting to be put in the oven. My daughter knocked it off the drainboard! What a mess. Have you ever tried to get grease and barbecue off an asphalt floor? Also, the glass casserole broke.

Then I was cooking blackeyed peas and when I was salting them, the top of the salt shaker came off. Had to dump the peas.

On top of that, my dear friend, I accidentally got one of my good silver spoons down the garbage disposal! We all have these days. They just will come.

You can take it gal. I did. all have to. One thing about it . . . we can thank the heavens that this isn't daily routine.

Concrete Cure

DEAR HELOISE:

Lubricating oil penetrates some concrete readily. The oil should be mopped off immediately, and the spot covered with Fullers earth or some other dry, powdered material such as dehydrated lime, whiting or dry Portland cement. If treated soon enough there will be no stain.

However, when the oil has stood for some time, other methods may be necessary.

Saturate white Canton flannel with a mixture of equal parts of acetone and amyl acetate and place over the stain. Cover with a slab of concrete or pane of glass. Keep the cloth saturated until the stain is removed.

If the solvent tends to spread the stain, a larger cloth should be used.

Covering the saturated cloth with glass drives the stain into the concrete, while the dry slab of concrete draws some oil into it. Scrubbing with solvent or benzine will often remove oil stains.

Nancy Williams, Jack Kress Wed In Ceremony At Lisbon

Nancy Lee Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams of E. Chestnut St., Lisbon, and Jack Kress, son of Mrs. Marcella Kress of Lisbon R.D. 1 and the late Stephen Kress, exchanged wedding vows at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Lisbon First Methodist Church before members of the immediate families.

The Rev. William L. Brown, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the chapel.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was attired in a ballerina length gown of embossed cotton with high neckline, elbow length sleeves and a bouffant skirt.

Attire Described

The veil to her tiny white pillbox hat was accented with little white bows. She carried a nosegay bouquet of white carnations, lilies of the valley and gardenias with cascading pale pink satin wedding streamers tied in lovers knots. Her only jewelry was pearls.

Miss Pamella Pannier, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor and the bride's only attendent. She wore a two-piece pink dacron ensemble with semi - full skirt and used pink and white accessories. Her head piece was styled identically to that of the bride but was in pastel pink. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Friend Is Bridegroom

Mrs. Williams chose a pink and green sheath jacket dress with pink accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a blue and white sheer dress with white accessories. Each complemented their attire with corsages of pink carnations.

An open reception was held Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the bride's home, where 75 guests were registered by Miss Karen Riggle.

The bride's table was decorated in a pink and white color theme, centered with a three-tiered cake decorated wih pink rosebuds and encircled with huckleberry foliage interspersed with pink and white roses.

Tapers, Roses Used

Rosebuds also were attached to the tall white tapers at either side of the cake and nosegays of roses enhanced the white linen cloth.

Miss Deanna Serago served the cake and Miss Barbara Albright presided at the punch bowl. Attendants were remembered with gifts at the reception.

Guests were present from Ft. Wayne, Ind., Boardman, East Palestine and Lisbon.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kress were members of this year's graduating class of David Anderson High School.

To Reside In Ft. Wayne

The couple left by auto Sunday for Ft. Wayne where Kress has accepted a position and where they will reside. For going away, Mrs. Kress wore a two-piece summer pink and white cotton frock.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gaydos were honored Sunday afternoon with an open reception in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary at their country home east of Lisbon.

Children Plan Fete

The affair was planned by the couple's four children, Mrs. James (Margaret) McLaughlin, George, of Lisbon; Mrs. Wayne, (June) Gandy of Cleveland and Joseph of Fontana, Calif. All were present with their families except Joseph, who telephoned during the day.

Many relatives, friends and neighbors were present. The couple received gifts, floral arrangements and cards.

The table was laid in lace and was centered with a cake in the shape of an open Bible, a golden rose on one page and a book down the other page bearing the inscription "50th anniversary". An arrangement of golden mums also decorated the table. Flower arrangement were throughout the home.

Guests Registered

Graham Speaks To Largest U.S. Crowd Of Career

CHICAGO (AP)—Billy Graham capped his Chicago "Crusade for Christ" Sunday by telling the largest American audience of his evangelistic career, "The crusade has just begun."

Some 116,000 persons—jammed elbow-to-elbow in Soldier Field in 90-degree heat — heard Graham give his final sermon of the 19-day crusade.

Graham has addressed larger crowds only twice in 15 years of evangelistic crusading, both times in Australia in 1959. He spoke to 140,000 in Melbourne and 125,000 in Sydney. More than 100,000 persons heard the evangelist preach in New York City's Yankee Stadium in 1957.

He urged members of his Chicago audience to dedicate their lives to God, to put religion into their social, economic and civic lives, and to fight what he termed, "internal decadence of the culture."

"This crusade doesn't end today. It is only the beginning. Now you have heard the Gospel and you must go out and live as Christians. You are held responsible by God."

Graham said America is backsliding morally in a manner similar to ancient Rome.

"Rome was not defeated by military superiority," said Graham. "It was defeated by its moral and religious decay. Here in America we also have a decaying religion."

At the sermon's conclusion 1,729 persons made their way through the crowded aisles to the speaker's podium to make what Graham calls decisions for Christ.

A total of 16,451 decisions were reported by the Graham organization during the crusade which started Memorial Day. The estimated total attendance was 703,000.

Graham said he will go to his home in Montreat, N.C., for a rest before conducting a special one-day rally, July 8 at the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash.

Graham Speaks To Largest U.S. Crowd Of Career

CHICAGO (AP)—Billy Graham capped his Chicago "Crusade for Christ" Sunday by telling the largest American audience of his evangelistic career, "The crusade has just begun."

Some 116,000 persons—jammed elbow-to-elbow in Soldier Field in 90-degree heat — heard Graham give his final sermon of the 19-day crusade.

Graham has addressed larger crowds only twice in 15 years of evangelistic crusading, both times in Australia in 1959. He spoke to 140,000 in Melbourne and 125,000 in Sydney. More than 100,000 persons heard the evangelist preach in New York City's Yankee Stadium in 1957.

He urged members of his Chicago audience to dedicate their lives to God, to put religion into their social, economic and civic lives, and to fight what he termed, "internal decadence of the culture."

"This crusade doesn't end today. It is only the beginning. Now you have heard the Gospel and you must go out and live as Christians. You are held responsible by God."

Graham said America is backsliding morally in a manner similar to ancient Rome.

"Rome was not defeated by military superiority," said Graham. "It was defeated by its moral and religious decay. Here in America we also have a decaying religion."

At the sermon's conclusion 1,729 persons made their way through the crowded aisles to the speaker's podium to make what Graham calls decisions for Christ.

A total of 16,451 decisions were reported by the Graham organization during the crusade which started Memorial Day. The estimated total attendance was 703,000.

Graham said he will go to his home in Montreat, N.C., for a rest before conducting a special one-day rally, July 8 at the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash.

Lodge Faces Kennedy For Senate Seat

BOSTON (AP)—The latest Lodge-Kennedy battle in a political feud which started more than 40 years ago was on today. Once again the goal is a seat in the U.S. Senate.

George Cabot Lodge won endorsement by the Republican state convention Saturday to run for the Senate.

Edward M. Kennedy got the Democratic endorsement for the Senate at his party convention a week earlier.

Lodge, 34, is the son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Kennedy, 30, is the youngest brother of President Kennedy, who once held the seat coming up in the November election.

The President first won the seat in 1952 when he defeated Henry Cabot Lodge. Eight years later Lodge again was on the losing side as the Republican vice-presidential nominee in the 1960 national election.

The first bout between the families was years ago when the grandfathers of the President and Henry Cabot Lodge competed for the Senate. Henry Cabot Lodge Sr. won that time, defeating John F. Fitzgerald.

Both Lodge and Kennedy may have primary opposition.

State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., defeated by Kennedy at the Democratic convention, is circulating nomination papers to enter the Sept. 18 party primary. He is a nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Lodge won the endorsement by defeating U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis, whose House district was eliminated when Massachusetts lost two of its 14 seats as a result of the 1960 census.

Curtis, 69, said he will decide in a few days whether to enter the primary. Lodge's victory was by an 88-vote margin, 936-848.

There is another candidate for the Senate seat—another famous name entry. H. Stuart Hughes, a Harvard University history professor and a grandson of the late chief justice of the United States, Charles Evans Hughes, has announced as an independent.

Lodge Faces Kennedy For Senate Seat

BOSTON (AP)—The latest Lodge-Kennedy battle in a political feud which started more than 40 years ago was on today. Once again the goal is a seat in the U.S. Senate.

George Cabot Lodge won endorsement by the Republican state convention Saturday to run for the Senate.

Lodge, 34, is the son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Kennedy, 30, is the youngest brother of President Kennedy, who once held the seat coming up in the November election.

The President first won the seat in 1952 when he defeated Henry Cabot Lodge. Eight years later Lodge again was on the losing side as the Republican vice-presidential nominee in the 1960 national election.

The first bout between the families was years ago when the grandfathers of the President and Henry Cabot Lodge competed for the Senate. Henry Cabot Lodge Sr. won that time, defeating John F. Fitzgerald.

Both Lodge and Kennedy may have primary opposition.

State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., defeated by Kennedy at the Democratic convention, is circulating nomination papers to enter the Sept. 18 party primary. He is a nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Lodge won the endorsement by defeating U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis, whose House district was eliminated when Massachusetts lost two of its 14 seats as a result of the 1960 census.

Curtis, 69, said he will decide in a few days whether to enter the primary. Lodge's victory was by an 88-vote margin, 936-848.

There is another candidate for the Senate seat—another famous name entry. H. Stuart Hughes, a Harvard University history professor and a grandson of the late chief justice of the United States, Charles Evans Hughes, has announced as an independent.

New Eating Habits Aid Food Tastes

An overweight who formerly over-ate all day long writes: "It's truly wonderful! I feel better, I look better and here's the surprise I had not counted on: Food tastes so much better!"

Ida Jean Kain

Out of concern for an overweight reader who has failed at more than a hundred different diets, this happy homemaker writes to give her own experience. She started her program by making an honest appraisal of her food habits. In the process of changing her ways of eating, food has become her friend. Let her tell you...

"I am 5 feet 1 tall. At Christmas time I weighed 185 pounds. I looked at myself and truly didn't know whether to try again to lose —or go for 200! I had tried crash diets, faddy diets, liquid diets, and just plain going without food... only to go back on the shovel gang again.

"I DECIDED TO study my eating habits and to be real honest about it. Between Christmas and the New Year I ate as usual. I took note of what I ate, how much I ate and how often. I had the shock of my 59 years.

"I found I ate only one meal a day, all day...from the time I got up in the morning until I turned out the lights at night. The food at meals was pretty much what the average family eats meat, vegetables, salads and desserts, but I was taking three and four servings of everything!

"With the New Year I began to make a new way of life. I stopped all snacking — my biggest fault. At first I was sure I was starving to death. Now I don't want to eat between meals. I eat everything the family has, even desserts — but in small amounts.

"By Easter Sunday I had lost 25 ugly pounds. I set from New Year's Day until New Year's Day to lose 50 pounds. This isn't fast, but it is safe, and I've never felt better. Our doctor says that changing eating habits is the best way to lose.

"I've had no encouragement from others. In fact it was quite a joke and I joined in the laughter. Everyone knew I'd been 'losing weight' for 20 years. But I didn't change my habits. Now I never think of extra helpings, nor of eating between meals.

"I know I need not carry extra baggage. My clothes fit me now. I know I'm on the right track and I'm reaping the rewards." She signed herself "A pleased loser."

THIS COURAGEOUS homemaker has succeeded in re-educating her appetite. Overeating at meals and between meals is largely habit. Once you make up your mind to take charge of what you eat and how much, food becomes a friend, not a fattening foe.

Send a long stamped, self-addressed, envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Tips Are Offered For Removal Of Rust From Metal

Question: We have a set of metal porch furniture with cushions that has seen better days. There are a few touches of rust on the metal. Can you tell us how to put the furniture back in tiptop shape?

Answer: Remove the cushions and clean the rusted parts of the metal with sandpaper or steel wool. Chemical rust remover may be used if necessary, but be sure to wipe the metal with turpentine before using paint. You also should sand any part of the metal which is still glossy, since new paint does not adhere properly to a glossy surface.

To prevent future rust, a metal primer with a rust inhibitor may be used under the final coating. As for the cushioning, there is little you can do with it if it's as bad off as you say.

Why not replace it with latex foam rubber? It can be bought by the yard in various thicknesses and then cut with scissors to the desired sizes. Cover the cushions with waterproof, opaque material.

Man, 67, Gets Leniency For Slow Driving

Explaining most motorists are accused of traveling too fast, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today suspended a $10 fine for a 67-year-old suburban motorist accused by the State Highway Patrol of driving less than 25 miles an hour in heavy traffic Saturday night on Routes 7 and 30.

Gilbert P. Menough of Coolidge Ave. pleaded guilty when arraigned and apologized to the court for his action. He told Judge Chertoff he doesn't drive often and never drives fast, but did not realize he was going so slow.

"It's the first time since I've been on the bench that anyone has been charged with driving too slow; most are cited for going too fast. I want you to know that your action constituted a hazard just as much as a person driving too fast," the judge said.

Decreeing a fine of $10 and costs, Judge Chertoff suspended the fine on payment of costs.

Highway Patrolman D. E. Johnson cited Menough for driving so slow "as to impede the normal and reasonable flow of traffic."

In an unsworn statement to the court, Johnson said Menough drove south from the intersection of Routes 7 and 30 to the Sub-Station at a speed never above 25 miles an hour.

Most of the time the speed was 20 miles an hour, even downhill, the patrolman said, explaining Menough had a long string of traffic behind him. Other drivers were starting to take changes to pass and the slow speed could have resulted in a serious accident, he said.

Two other motorists — one charged with leaving the scene of an accident and the other cited by the patrol for speeding—were fined and a continuance was granted a third driver to obtain counsel.

A Midland man, jailed since May 22 on a drunk driving charge, was released on the recommendation of a physician.

William Jarrett, 1230 Chaffin S., drew a fine of $50 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of a double accident.

Judge Chertoff reprimanded himself for previously having returned Jarrett's license on another charge.

"What an awful mistake I made; the next time I think I'll ground you for life," he told Jarrett, identified by police as the motorist who fled on foot after his car struck two parked autos early Friday on Erie St.

Asked if he fled because he had been drinking, Jarrett told the judge he has quit drinking and ran away because he was scared.

"That's the most cowardly thing in the world," Judge Chertoff replied.

Learning the accident happened about 1 a. m., the judge declared, "You weren't coming from church at that hour!"

Paul A. Preston, 18, of Westfield was fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge filed by the patrol, but the fine was suspended on payment of costs.

A hearing for James Raneri, 50, of Lisbon R. D. 2, accused of failing to yield the right-of-way was in an accident June 4 in Glenmoor that injured three, was continued until 9 a. m. Wednesday to permit him to obtain counsel.

Joseph M. Lentz of Youngstown, arrested Thursday night on Route 7 by the patrol for speeding 70 miles an hour, is due for a hearing Thursday at 9 a. m.

Okey Sipe, 520 Midland Ave., Midland, who has been serving a 30-day jail term imposed May 22 for drunken driving, was released today by Judge Chertoff, who said he acted on the recommendation of Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, who examined the Midland motorist.

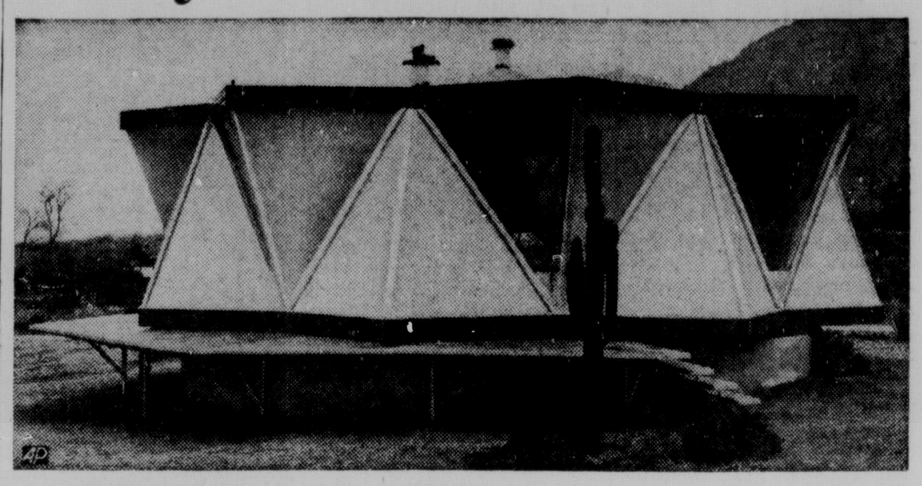
Merry-Go-Round House



AP Newsfeatures

Various kinds of "houses of the future" are on exhibit in several places in the United States, including the Seattle World's Fair.

But there's at least one man who already is living in a house of the future on weekends. He's Floyd D'Angelo, a Los Angeles businessman.

Desiring a weekend retreat with some protection from the dazzling desert glare, he designed a house that operates like a carousel. It automatically revolves with the sun to solve the daytime glare problem and to permit a selection of view at night.

D'Angelo had some technical kinks to work out, so he called on Harry Conrey for assistance in the mechanical setup.

Since Conrey is a specialist with the Garrett Corp., which deals exclusively with problems of aerospace for the United States government, a little thing like a merry-go-round house didn't faze him. The result of the collaboration: a rotating home with a 750-square-foot interior consisting of a living room with an open fireplace in the center, a bedroom, kitchen and bath.

The movement of the house, which is geared over a 130-degree arc, is automatically motivated by a photoelectric cell on the roof which reacts to the position of the sun.

A time clock arrangement at sundown automatically returns the house to position for the next morning's sun, but a special position can be selected for night if desired.

D'Angelo says that the house revolves at such a slow rate of speed that there is no sensation of movement.

Entrance is provided by means of a circular porch which extends around enough of the house circumference to accommodate the doorway at any position in the rotational arc.

The problem of plumbing connections was solved by having water enter and leave the house through rotating universal joints located in the central column of the structure.

Everything else is electrical, with a flexible cable hookup between the house intake connection and the external source.

The rotating house is located at the foot of a mountain outside of Palm Springs, Calif. It is mounted on 16 rubber - tire casters that ride on a circular track. A specially geared one-sixth horsepower electric motor drives the house through its 130-degree arc.

House Placement Vital

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newseatures Writer

After one selects a house site and a house plan, there is another step perhaps just as important as the first two—how to place the dwelling.

A lovely house on a beautiful site can be a costly mistake if it is placed without due consideration to exposures.

A woman who designed her own house plan writes that she and the builder disagree on how it should be placed on the site. Are there good general rules, she asks.

One may not want to place a house smack on top of a hill where it is in the path of gales. But that same location in another area may be wonderful when rains come, as people with cellars that flood will tell you. Building authorities in the area can fill you in on those points.

FROM THE standpoint of comfort and aesthetic beauty, a breakfast room should get morning sun, and the living room is best located on the warm (south) side so that winter sun may help lessen heat bills.

Bedrooms should be placed away from street noises when possible and the north side of the house is best used for rooms little used by the family such as laundry rooms, work shop, garage, bathrooms, and even the kitchen which can be brightened with paint.

Spare the trees. If you hand a builder a plan and carte blanche with the shrubbery, you may be out of luck. Tell him specifically what you want to save, even if a tree is 50 feet from the house line.

Old trees are expensive. Try to keep beautiful trees that will flatter your house. And mark trees that you want saved even if they are not near the house.

Bulldozer operators often plow up trees that are in their way when they are trying to get into the property. Make sure they choose a route that doesn't rob you of good foliage.

Another reader, a would - be house buyer, asks how to figure the cubic feet of a house. She often reads that a house is so much per cubic foot.

If a house is 30 by 30 feet, multiply the figures to get the square feet (900). To get the cubic feet of the house you multiply the number of square feet (900) by the height of the house, measured from the cellar floor to a point midway between the eaves and ridge of the roof, if the roof slopes.

If the house is 24 feet high, 900 by 24 will give you the number of cubic feet in the house. Take the 21,600 cubic feet and multiply it by the cost per cubic foot in the area where you plan to build or buy.

—:—

A WOMAN with four children who lives on a large country tract inquires whether a swimming pool is a good investment. She and the children are trying to sell her husband on the idea.

A safely constructed pool should be a great asset to a large family, and a pool should certainly increase the value of the old homestead.

One further advantage for country folk is the possibility of fire protection.

Firemen in Bel Air, Calif., were generally stymied when the city water supply was drained during the fires that raged there last winter.

The chief engineer of the Los Angeles Department of Fire wrote the Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Information Bureau recently that he personally knew of 10 or 12 locations with swimming pools "where we were able to get our pumps close enough to draft water and where this was done, we were able to save homes". The homes in this area are in the $50,000 to $600,000 bracket he pointed out, and swimming pools are installed behind the home so that they "were completely accessible in most cases", he said.

That's a good point to keep in mind when constructing a pool—make it accessible to fire equipment in case of emergency.

Vinson will be given a hearing on the two charges when he is released from the hospital.

Hurt when his auto hit two utility poles on W. 8th St. Sunday at 3 a. m., John E. Dyer, 25, of 512 8th St., Toronto, also was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, police reported.

One of the poles was sheared off when hit by Dyer's westbound 1955 sedan, police said. The car was damaged extensively. Dyer told police he fell asleep at the wheel.

Dyer, whose wife and infant son were in court, drew a five-day jail term and a fine of $200 and costs in addition to having his license suspended for six months when he pleaded guilty today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The Toronto man, who said he has been laid off as a millworker but has been tending bar, was told by the judge: "You've been sampling the stuff you're supposed to serve."

Donald Knoblock, 30, of Post Office Box 490 was charged with leaving the scene of an accident following a collision Sunday at 2:44 a. m. on Ravine St. that damaged an auto owned by Jim Matheny, 162 Ravine St., officers said.

Matheny told police the offending auto struck his car and knocked it over the curb, damaging the left rear and the entire front end. Knoblock, apprehended later, told police he realized he had struck Matheny's car, but was frightened and did not stop.

In fining Knoblock $50 and costs, Judge Chertoff said he was letting him off easy, declaring he should suspend his license.

"You're nothing but a coward," he told Knoblock.

Judge Chertoff recalled that the defendant had appeared before him previously on a drunken driving charge, but Knoblock denied he had been drinking when the accident occurred, claiming he was frightened.

Another hit-skip collision on W. 8th St. Sunday at 1 a. m. damaged a 1959 model foreign compact operated by Harold L. Shepherd, 17, of 237 Carolina Ave., Chester. Shepherd told police the offending auto scraped the right front fender of his car and did not stop.

He gave police a description of the auto and the license number, issued to a Steubenville man.

Two cars were damaged in a collision on Lisbon St. at the W. 9th St. ramp Sunday at 9:13 p.m.

They are a 1960 two-door sedan operated by Ralph E. Salter, 46, of 129½ W. 6th St. and a 1956 sedan driven by Edna Delores Timmons, 24, of Boring Ln.

Salter told police he was halted when his car was hit from the rear by the woman's. The LaCroft woman was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Mrs. Timmons pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs. Salter, who was in court, told the judge he was satisfied with arrangements made to pay for damages to his car.

A mishap Saturday at 10:40 a.m. on Harvey Ave. damaged a 1957 station wagon driven by Carl DiMarzio, 29, of 29 Park Pl., Midland, and a 1958 model truck operated by Woodrow Adkins, 32, of 855 Pennsylvania Ave. DiMarzio told police he was slowing for traffic when his car was hit from the rear. Adkins said his brakes failed.

Man, 67, Gets Leniency For Slow Driving

Explaining most motorists are accused of traveling too fast, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today suspended a $10 fine for a 67-year-old suburban motorist accused by the State Highway Patrol of driving less than 25 miles an hour in heavy traffic Saturday night on Routes 7 and 30.

Gilbert P. Menough of Coolidge Ave. pleaded guilty when arraigned and apologized to the court for his action. He told Judge Chertoff he doesn't drive often and never drives fast, but did not realize he was going so slow.

"It's the first time since I've been on the bench that anyone has been charged with driving too slow; most are cited for going too fast. I want you to know that your action constituted a hazard just as much as a person driving too fast," the judge said.

Decreeing a fine of $10 and costs, Judge Chertoff suspended the fine on payment of costs.

Highway Patrolman D. E. Johnson cited Menough for driving so slow "as to impede the normal and reasonable flow of traffic."

In an unsworn statement to the court, Johnson said Menough drove south from the intersection of Routes 7 and 30 to the Sub-Station at a speed never above 25 miles an hour.

Most of the time the speed was 20 miles an hour, even downhill, the patrolman said, explaining Menough had a long string of traffic behind him. Other drivers were starting to take changes to pass and the slow speed could have resulted in a serious accident, he said.

Two other motorists — one charged with leaving the scene of an accident and the other cited by the patrol for speeding—were fined and a continuance was granted a third driver to obtain counsel.

A Midland man, jailed since May 22 on a drunk driving charge, was released on the recommendation of a physician.

William Jarrett, 1230 Chaffin S., drew a fine of $50 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of a double accident.

Judge Chertoff reprimanded himself for previously having returned Jarrett's license on another charge.

"What an awful mistake I made; the next time I think I'll ground you for life," he told Jarrett, identified by police as the motorist who fled on foot after his car struck two parked autos early Friday on Erie St.

Asked if he fled because he had been drinking, Jarrett told the judge he has quit drinking and ran away because he was scared.

"That's the most cowardly thing in the world," Judge Chertoff replied.

Learning the accident happened about 1 a. m., the judge declared, "You weren't coming from church at that hour!"

Paul A. Preston, 18, of Westfield was fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge filed by the patrol, but the fine was suspended on payment of costs.

A hearing for James Raneri, 50, of Lisbon R. D. 2, accused of failing to yield the right-of-way was in an accident June 4 in Glenmoor that injured three, was continued until 9 a. m. Wednesday to permit him to obtain counsel.

Joseph M. Lentz of Youngstown, arrested Thursday night on Route 7 by the patrol for speeding 70 miles an hour, is due for a hearing Thursday at 9 a. m.

Okey Sipe, 520 Midland Ave., Midland, who has been serving a 30-day jail term imposed May 22 for drunken driving, was released today by Judge Chertoff, who said he acted on the recommendation of Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, who examined the Midland motorist.

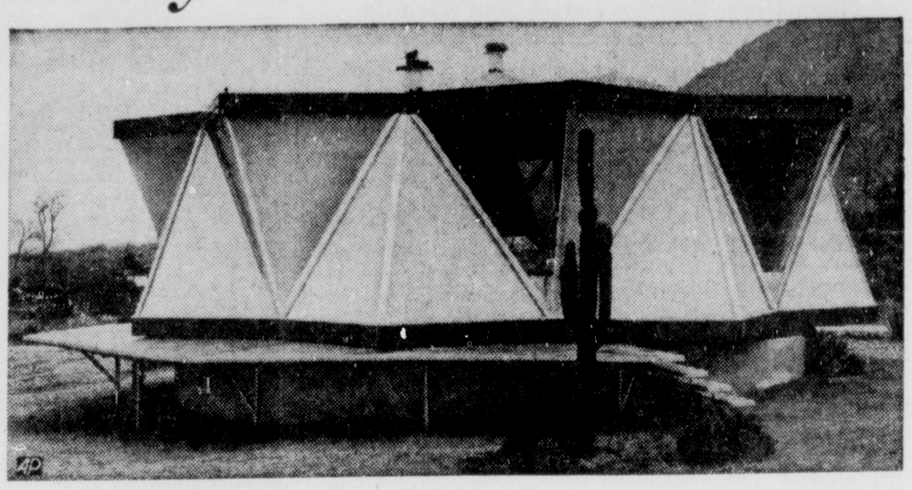
Merry-Go-Round House



AP Newsfeatures

Various kinds of "houses of the future" are on exhibit in several places in the United States, including the Seattle World's Fair.

But there's at least one man who already is living in a house of the future on weekends. He's Floyd D'Angelo, a Los Angeles businessman.

Desiring a weekend retreat with some protection from the dazzling desert glare, he designed a house that operates like a carousel. It automatically revolves with the sun to solve the daytime glare problem and to permit a selection of view at night.

D'Angelo had some technical kinks to work out, so he called on Harry Conrey for assistance in the mechanical setup.

Since Conrey is a specialist with the Garrett Corp., which deals exclusively with problems of aerospace for the United States government, a little thing like a merry-go-round house didn't faze him. The result of the collaboration: a rotating home with a 750-square-foot interior consisting of a living room with an open fireplace in the center, a bedroom, kitchen and bath.

The movement of the house, which is geared over a 130-degree arc, is automatically motivated by a photoelectric cell on the roof which reacts to the position of the sun.

A time clock arrangement at sundown automatically returns the house to position for the next morning's sun, but a special position can be selected for night if desired.

D'Angelo says that the house revolves at such a slow rate of speed that there is no sensation of movement.

Entrance is provided by means of a circular porch which extends around enough of the house circumference to accommodate the doorway at any position in the rotational arc.

The problem of plumbing connections was solved by having water enter and leave the house through rotating universal joints located in the central column of the structure.

Everything else is electrical, with a flexible cable hookup between the house intake connection and the external source.

The rotating house is located at the foot of a mountain outside of Palm Springs, Calif. It is mounted on 16 rubber - tire casters that ride on a circular track. A specially geared one-sixth horsepower electric motor drives the house through its 130-degree arc.

House Placement Vital

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newseatures Writer

After one selects a house site and a house plan, there is another step perhaps just as important as the first two—how to place the dwelling.

A lovely house on a beautiful site can be a costly mistake if it is placed without due consideration to exposures.

A woman who designed her own house plan writes that she and the builder disagree on how it should be placed on the site. Are there good general rules, she asks.

One may not want to place a house smack on top of a hill where it is in the path of gales. But that same location in another area may be wonderful when rains come, as people with cellars that flood will tell you. Building authorities in the area can fill you in on those points.

FROM THE standpoint of comfort and aesthetic beauty, a breakfast room should get morning sun, and the living room is best located on the warm (south) side so that winter sun may help lessen heat bills.

Bedrooms should be placed away from street noises when possible and the north side of the house is best used for rooms little used by the family such as laundry rooms, work shop, garage, bathrooms, and even the kitchen which can be brightened with paint.

Spare the trees. If you hand a builder a plan and carte blanche with the shrubbery, you may be out of luck. Tell him specifically what you want to save, even if a tree is 50 feet from the house line.

Old trees are expensive. Try to keep beautiful trees that will flatter your house. And mark trees that you want saved even if they are not near the house.

Bulldozer operators often plow up trees that are in their way when they are trying to get into the property. Make sure they choose a route that doesn't rob you of good foliage.

Another reader, a would - be house buyer, asks how to figure the cubic feet of a house. She often reads that a house is so much per cubic foot.

If a house is 30 by 30 feet, multiply the figures to get the square feet (900). To get the cubic feet of the house you multiply the number of square feet (900) by the height of the house, measured from the cellar floor to a point midway between the eaves and ridge of the roof, if the roof slopes.

If the house is 24 feet high, 900 by 24 will give you the number of cubic feet in the house. Take the 21,600 cubic feet and multiply it by the cost per cubic foot in the area where you plan to build or buy.

—:—

A WOMAN with four children who lives on a large country tract inquires whether a swimming pool is a good investment. She and the children are trying to sell her husband on the idea.

A safely constructed pool should be a great asset to a large family, and a pool should certainly increase the value of the old homestead.

One further advantage for country folk is the possibility of fire protection.

Firemen in Bel Air, Calif., were generally stymied when the city water supply was drained during the fires that raged there last winter.

The chief engineer of the Los Angeles Department of Fire wrote the Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Information Bureau recently that he personally knew of 10 or 12 locations with swimming pools "where we were able to get our pumps close enough to draft water and where this was done, we were able to save homes". The homes in this area are in the $50,000 to $600,000 bracket he pointed out, and swimming pools are installed behind the home so that they "were completely accessible in most cases", he said.

That's a good point to keep in mind when constructing a pool—make it accessible to fire equipment in case of emergency.

when his head struck the windshield.

Vinson will be given a hearing on the two charges when he is released from the hospital.

Hurt when his auto hit two utility poles on W. 8th St. Sunday at 3 a. m., John E. Dyer, 25, of 512 8th St., Toronto, also was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, police reported.

One of the poles was sheared off when hit by Dyer's westbound 1955 sedan, police said. The car was damaged extensively. Dyer told police he fell asleep at the wheel.

Dyer, whose wife and infant son were in court, drew a five-day jail term and a fine of $200 and costs in addition to having his license suspended for six months when he pleaded guilty today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The Toronto man, who said he has been laid off as a millworker but has been tending bar, was told by the judge: "You've been sampling the stuff you're supposed to serve."

Donald Knoblock, 30, of Post Office Box 490 was charged with leaving the scene of an accident following a collision Sunday at 2:44 a. m. on Ravine St. that damaged an auto owned by Jim Matheny, 162 Ravine St., officers said.

Matheny told police the offending auto struck his car and knocked it over the curb, damaging the left rear and the entire front end. Knoblock, apprehended later, told police he realized he had struck Matheny's car, but was frightened and did not stop.

In fining Knoblock $50 and costs, Judge Chertoff said he was letting him off easy, declaring he should suspend his license.

"You're nothing but a coward," he told Knoblock.

Judge Chertoff recalled that the defendant had appeared before him previously on a drunken driving charge, but Knoblock denied he had been drinking when the accident occurred, claiming he was frightened.

Another hit-skip collision on W. 8th St. Sunday at 1 a. m. damaged a 1959 model foreign compact operated by Harold L. Shepherd, 17, of 237 Carolina Ave., Chester. Shepherd told police the offending auto scraped the right front fender of his car and did not stop.

He gave police a description of the auto and the license number, issued to a Steubenville man.

Two cars were damaged in a collision on Lisbon St. at the W. 9th St. ramp Sunday at 9:13 p.m.

They are a 1960 two-door sedan operated by Ralph E. Salter, 46, of 129½ W. 6th St. and a 1956 sedan driven by Edna Delores Timmons, 24, of Boring Ln.

Salter told police he was halted when his car was hit from the rear by the woman's. The LaCroft woman was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Mrs. Timmons pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs. Salter, who was in court, told the judge he was satisfied with arrangements made to pay for damages to his car.

A mishap Saturday at 10:40 a.m. on Harvey Ave. damaged a 1957 station wagon driven by Carl DiMarzio, 29, of 29 Park Pl., Midland, and a 1958 model truck operated by Woodrow Adkins, 32, of 855 Pennsylvania Ave. DiMarzio told police he was slowing for traffic when his car was hit from the rear. Adkins said his brakes failed.

Glass-Walled Cottages Help Cut Down Upkeep

Call it a cottage, summer home or vacation house, by any name these "second homes" like second cars, are becoming a standard with many families.

Already more than an estimated one-and-a-half million Americans own vacation hideaways and the number is increasing yearly due to expanding incomes, increased leisure time and more convenient means of travel between cities and resort areas.

"Although their purpose of providing a carefree retreat hasn't changed, summer homes themselves are undergoing a steady transition," comments Ralph Sherwin, chief designer of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co.

"Nowadays they feature most of the labor - saving conveniences found in permanent homes, plus a number of other refinements in such things as construction, decoration and design. Yet, they need not be overly expensive. Many cottages can be built at a cost within reach of middle income families. Often much of the work can be done yourself with a little outside professional help."

Cottages are now built with an eye to the eventual living pleasure they will gain from their setting, Sherwin noted. Standard designs are being modified to conform to site conditions, and entirely new types are making their appearance. A comparative newcomer is the A-frame house which is shaped like the letter "A" at the ends. Inexpensive and easy to build it is highly attractive and very practical in wintry areas because the steep roof will support heavy snows.

The ideal summer cottage, regardless of its style, is one which combines comfort with easy maintenance. Building materials which require little or no seasonal upkeep are therefore, getting the nod from most buyers, the designer observed.

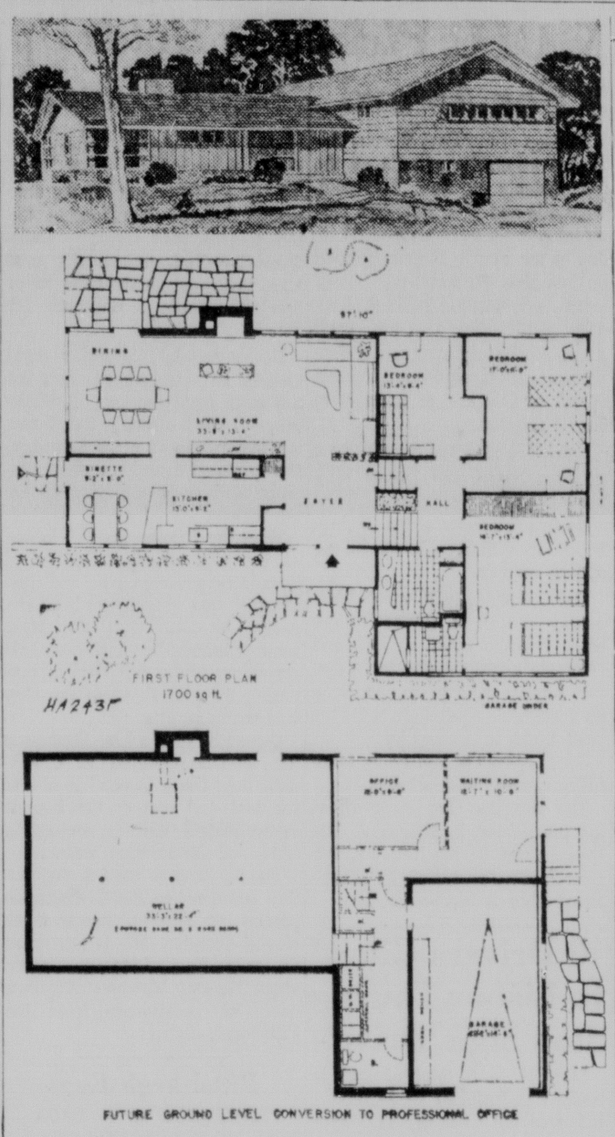
GLASS WALLS, for example, are popular because glass never needs refinishing, can't rot or warp in lake-side air, and needs only an occasional cleaning.

And, glass walls can also help to create a feeling of more space in a summer home. Not only do rooms seem to become part of the surroundings, but they appear brighter and less confining, a desirable characteristic in any vacation setting.

If you are considering building a summer home yourself with a professional carpenter to help you over the hard spots, Sherwin suggests choosing a simple basic plan which employs standard - size components such as doors, windows and wall panels.

This way the materials are readily obtainable from stock at nearby building supply dealers and you can save money while avoiding time - consuming construction delays.

Choose materials wisely for long service and easy upkeep. If there is a possibility for off-season use of the cottage while skiing or ice fishing, make sure you include insulation and a source of heat.



GRACIOUS AND SPACIOUS are the words for Plan HA243P, a split level. In the foyer the planter divider is immediately noticed, with the rear garden viewed through the livingroom windows. The large dinette is paneled in wood and the adjoining kitchen is done in natural woods. The approach to the bedroom level, up seven steps, is highlighted by a plant box. The master bedroom has one storage wall composed entirely of built-in storage drawers and shelves and hanging area. The ground level is flexible, suitable for a large family room or for an office and waiting room for a professional man. Plan HA243P was designed by Samuel Paul, 89-30 161 St., Jamaica, N. Y.

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — What Yellowstone National Park needs is not a good 5-cent cigar — but a bear-proof garbage can.

The brown bears which abound in Yellowstone Park may amuse the tourists with their antics, but to park rangers they are litterbugs and nuisances.

So far, man hasn't been successful in coming up with a garbage can that man can open to deposit garbage — but bears can't open to spread it around.

Park officials are trying several new types of garbage cans this summer to test the ingenuity of the cagy bruins. So far, the bears have won on all counts.

One of the experimental models is designed like a mail box. But it didn't take the smart bears to figure that one out.

Another model hangs from a T-frame, but Park Superintendent Lemuel A. Garrison says it isn't working too well, either.

"The bears knock it around like a punching bag," he said, "and it makes a big racket."

Summer's Good Time To Eliminate Eyesores

AP Newsfeature

Make a summer project of getting rid of eyesores around the home and improving your outlook.

One tolerates extraneous objects outdoors because it's been too dreary or too cold to get in the mood to obliterate them.

But when the home grounds are in full bloom there is little excuse for delay. Cool summer mornings are ideal for outdoor work projects.

There are other home improvements, too, that can add to the appearance of the home and increase its value.

An untidy walk that spoils the entrance to a trim little house often can be spruced up a few hours, depending on the walk that would flatter the area.

Flagstone and large flat stepping stones are popular. A brick walk set in a herringbone or other pattern may take a while longer to do, but if it is the right look for your house, it will not only add to the appearance of your home, but will increase its value.

Gravel walks are neat. One may put into a six-inch-deep bed a four - inch layer of ¾-inch crushed stone and spread it with stone dust and a ½-inch layer of stone or pebbles on top.

Cut granite stones used in a variegated pattern may be set in a concrete bed and bordered by bushes to flatter a house in a rustic setting. Granite stones may serve, too, on one side of a walk as a curbing for natural stepping stones set in a bed of pebbles.

When steps lead up to the door of a house because of a sloping entranceway they may be a combination of slates and logs.

Slate tiles are put down flat for perhaps six feet and then a large three or four foot log used for the step. Where there is a long entrance path, this is an ideal and pretty solution.

Porch steps that need repair or replacement may be camouflaged with potted plants until the work can be done.

An inventory of typical eyesores includes the trash heap that has grown from a few broken shingles to a mound as high as an elephant's eye. If it can't be burned, truck it to a disposal plant.

These mounds tend to grow when hidden by foliage or tall grasses. And then in winter when everything is barren once again, you're stuck with them. If you burn your own trash, fence in the area. Tall privet wood fence makes an ideal screen, L-shaped or U-shaped. It can serve a very respectable purpose, left to weather or painted white or green.

The same type of fence is good to conceal septic tanks and receptacles. Home owners are the last to note that the lovely landscaping achieved by sweat of the brow is blighted by such things.

Children's toys often lie unused from one end of the year to another on lawn, around garage and in backyards.

But how can children file these articles away when they do not have a specific place or convenient place to put them? One father found a solution in a low inexpensive wooden fence that could be covered with a tarpaulin. It was the length and width of a bicycle.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I keep my door locks in easy working order?

. By giving them a shot of graphite powder, obtainable at any hardware store, at least once a year. Pencil-point shavings will do the trick fine, too.

Q. How can I wash my son's khaki Boy Scout uniforms?

A. Khaki should be washed in lukewarm water, with a mild soap. If very soiled, the gament can be laid on a board and scrubbed thoroughly with a course brush. Do not, under any circumstances, rub the soap directly on the khaki. Rinse carefully, wring out, and dry in the shade. Iron carefully.

Q. How can I remove shine from woolen garments?

A. By sponging the garment with a solution of one teaspoon ammonia to a quart of water. Press on the wrong side.

Q. Is there any possible way to resurrect some apparently dead flashlight batteries?

A. One good way is as follows: First remove the paper cover from the batteries, then punch a few small holes into the bases of the batteries with a nail. Then put them into a strong salt water solution for three or four hours. When you take them out, dry them, then dip them into some melted wax, and replace the paper covers when cool.

Q. What can I do, for safety's sake, about those flying pieces of concrete when I'm pounding a chisel or star drill into a concrete wall or floor?

A. You can safeguard against these flying pieces if you'll slip the rubber cup of a plumber's force pump over the shaft of your chisel or drill to serve as a catcher for the wayward chips.

Q. How can I remove tar or asphalt stains from fabrics?

A. First rub some lard into the stain to loosen it up, let remain for awhile, then launder in the usual way, using plenty of hot soap suds.

Q. How can I insure a wood or machine screw's remaining tightly in place?

A. If you'll put a drop of shellac on the threads of the screw before turning it in, the shellac will act as a cement for holding the screw firmly in place.

Strawberry Crop Declines; Peaches Due In July, August

The district strawberry crop is past its peak, but supplies still are plentiful enough for making jam or placing the fruit in freezers, according to Richard W. Skinner, market information specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service in Canfield.

Ohio State University recommends Pocahontas, Surecrop, Earlidawn, Sparke, Midland and Midway varieties for freezing. It is most important when freezing berries that they be frozen as soon after picking as possible. Fruit for freezing should be firm and well colored, not mushy or overripe.

The Florida citrus crop is in its final stages, while most Valencia oranges are moving out of California. Frozen orange concentrates will continue to be economically priced for several weeks to come as a result of this year's bumper crop of oranges.

Fresh pineaple supplies will decrease during the next few weeks as banana supplies remain constant. Lemons will become more important in the weeks ahead as we move into the period of hot weather.

Peaches have made volume appearance in light volume from Georgia with larger amounts expected in the next week or two. The yield is likely to be less than usual on all varieties from Georgia. The quality is reported good but size is small.

The local peach season will not begin until late July or early August.

Western cantaloupes have had one of the latest starts in years. Light volume will continue for another week or two when it is expected to pick up. Cool weather in Arizona and Southern California has aided vine growth and the plants are in good condition, but the set is not as heavy as usual in many instances. Quality potential is good.

California grape harvest was delayed but has now begun with some Thompson seedless expected on the market this month. Sweet cherries reach their peak during June. White local cherries will not be extremely plentiful, some area fruit growers will have sweet and sour cherries for sale within the next few weeks.

Watermelon supplies will increase and prices should decrease in the weeks to come. Blueberries from North Carolina and New Jersey will soon make their appearance here. This is a fruit which is becoming increasingly popular each year.

Because of the current market situation, now is the time to profitably serve eggs.

Slate tiles are put down flat for perhaps six feet and then a large three or four foot log used for the step. Where there is a long entrance path, this is an ideal and pretty solution.

Porch steps that need repair or replacement may be camouflaged with potted plants until the work can be done.

An inventory of typical eyesores includes the trash heap that has grown from a few broken shingles to a mound as high as an elephant's eye. If it can't be burned, truck it to a disposal plant.

These mounds tend to grow when hidden by foliage or tall grasses. And then in winter when everything is barren once again, you're stuck with them. If you burn your own trash, fence in the area. Tall privet wood fence makes an ideal screen, L-shaped or U-shaped. It can serve a very respectable purpose, left to weather or painted white or green.

The same type of fence is good to conceal septic tanks and receptacles. Home owners are the last to note that the lovely landscaping achieved by sweat of the brow is blighted by such things.

Children's toys often lie unused from one end of the year to another on lawn, around garage and in backyards.

But how can children file these articles away when they do not have a specific place or convenient place to put them? One father found a solution in a low inexpensive wooden fence that could be covered with a tarpaulin. It was the length and width of a bicycle.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I keep my door locks in easy working order?

. By giving them a shot of graphite powder, obtainable at any hardware store, at least once a year. Pencil-point shavings will do the trick fine, too.

Q. How can I wash my son's khaki Boy Scout uniforms?

A. Khaki should be washed in lukewarm water, with a mild soap. If very soiled, the gament can be laid on a board and scrubbed thoroughly with a course brush. Do not, under any circumstances, rub the soap directly on the khaki. Rinse carefully, wring out, and dry in the shade. Iron carefully.

Q. How can I remove shine from woolen garments?

A. By sponging the garment with a solution of one teaspoon ammonia to a quart of water. Press on the wrong side.

Q. Is there any possible way to resurrect some apparently dead flashlight batteries?

A. One good way is as follows: First remove the paper cover from the batteries, then punch a few small holes into the bases of the batteries with a nail. Then put them into a strong salt water solution for three or four hours. When you take them out, dry them, then dip them into some melted wax, and replace the paper covers when cool.

Q. What can I do, for safety's sake, about those flying pieces of concrete when I'm pounding a chisel or star drill into a concrete wall or floor?

A. You can safeguard against these flying pieces if you'll slip the rubber cup of a plumber's force pump over the shaft of your chisel or drill to serve as a catcher for the wayward chips.

Q. How can I remove tar or asphalt stains from fabrics?

A. First rub some lard into the stain to loosen it up, let remain for awhile, then launder in the usual way, using plenty of hot soap suds.

Q. How can I insure a wood or machine screw's remaining tightly in place?

A. If you'll put a drop of shellac on the threads of the screw before turning it in, the shellac will act as a cement for holding the screw firmly in place.

Strawberry Crop Declines; Peaches Due In July, August

The district strawberry crop is past its peak, but supplies still are plentiful enough for making jam or placing the fruit in freezers, according to Richard W. Skinner, market information specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service in Canfield.

Ohio State University recommends Pocahontas, Surecrop, Earlidawn, Sparke, Midland and Midway varieties for freezing. It is most important when freezing berries that they be frozen as soon after picking as possible. Fruit for freezing should be firm and well colored, not mushy or overripe.

The Florida citrus crop is in its final stages, while most Valencia oranges are moving out of California. Frozen orange concentrates will continue to be economically priced for several weeks to come as a result of this year's bumper crop of oranges.

Fresh pineaple supplies will decrease during the next few weeks as banana supplies remain constant. Lemons will become more important in the weeks ahead as we move into the period of hot weather.

Peaches have made volume appearance in light volume from Georgia with larger amounts expected in the next week or two. The yield is likely to be less than usual on all varieties from Georgia. The quality is reported good but size is small.

The local peach season will not begin until late July or early August.

Western cantaloupes have had one of the latest starts in years. Light volume will continue for another week or two when it is expected to pick up. Cool weather in Arizona and Southern California has aided vine growth and the plants are in good condition, but the set is not as heavy as usual in many instances. Quality potential is good.

California grape harvest was delayed but has now begun with some Thompson seedless expected on the market this month. Sweet cherries reach their peak during June. White local cherries will not be extremely plentiful, some area fruit growers will have sweet and sour cherries for sale within the next few weeks.

Watermelon supplies will increase and prices should decrease in the weeks to come. Blueberries from North Carolina and New Jersey will soon make their appearance here. This is a fruit which is becoming increasingly popular each year.

Because of the current market situation, now is the time to profitably serve eggs.

That's Close Enough In Anybody's League

NORWALK, Calif. (AP) — Five men from the Russian Ministry of Higher and Secondary Specialized Education toured Cerritos College here, concentrating on science facilities and curriculum.

Chief of the delegation Boris Kuzmin, asked chemistry instructor Ev Baker to weigh a Russian coin. Baker measured it on an automatic balance and gave an answer of 1.0001 gram.

"Very good," said Kuzmin. "You are within 1-10,000th of a gram."

Nabbed On Binge

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A desperate homeowner was nabbed here recently in a pre-dawn binge of watering his lawn. He had sneaked out in his pajamas to splash the grass and beat the city's no-sprinkling rule that resulted from a long drought.

Take It From Sis, She Has Good Advice

MEMPHIS (AP) — A boy about 7 and his sister, perhaps a couple of years younger waited in the doctor's office. The boy was not in the least happy about it.

"But I don't wanna booster shot," he wailed.

"Now, now," comforted his sister in her best little-mother voice, "that shot will be better than having booster."

Woman Motorist Cited In Lone County Crash

A Salem woman was cited for unsafe operation in a three-car crash Sunday night at 7:50 near Lisbon — the lone weekend traffic mishap investigated by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Officers reported Virginia H. Rosta, 51, was cited after her car hit the rear of the auto of Harold O. Hiscox, 55, of Lisbon R. D. 5, and then sideswiped the car of Fernanda Andressi, 39, of Beaver, approaching from the opposite direction.

The patrol said Hiscox and the Salem woman both were headed north and Andressi was southbound. Hiscox had slowed to attempt a right turn when his car was hit in the rear.

No one was injured and officers said damage was minor. The accident occurred on Route 45, two and a half miles north of Lisbon.

Sheriff Hunts Liquor, Winds Up With Water

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — It was a long trip for Deputy Sheriff James Sirmans when he drove 20 miles into the country on a tip from a telephone caller who informed him that an illegal liquor still was being built.

The telephone caller said he saw a truck loaded with pipe and other equipment that looked like it was designed for a still.

Ford Seeks End To Ohio Walkout

DETROIT (AP) — Union and management negotiators were to meet again today in an effort to settle an Ohio strike which has led to 50,000 layoffs of Ford Motor Co. workers.

The third meeting of the renewed bargaining sessions with the United Auto Workers ended in the Ford central office building here Sunday with a report of no progress.

Meanwhile, a strike of 3,200 workers at the Ford Walton Hills Stamping Plant near Cleveland went into its 12th day. The strike began over work standards at the plant which supplies parts for all Ford models except Lincoln Continental.

Last week, Ford closed its 16 auto assembly plants and stopped some manufacturing operations. Henry Ford II said more manufacturing plants will close if the Ohio stoppage continues. He said a lack of space for stockpiling would force closures as the parts shortage grows more acute.

Wellsville Girl Falls While Avoiding Truck

A 7-year-old Wellsville girl slipped and fell on the street just before darting into the path of a slow-moving pickup truck Saturday afternoon at 3:10 at 7th St. and Broadway, Wellsville.

Police said Anna Marie Mase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Mase of Main St., was playing along the sidewalk when she darted into the street. Robert F. Burlingame, 24, of East Liverpool R. D. 2, driving a truck owned by Adkins Lumber Co., had spotted the girl and slowed.

She apparently saw the vehicle after she started running and slipped to the street when she tried to halt. She was not struck by the truck, officers said. The child suffered minor bruises.

A similar picnic will be held at the Columbiana County Rural Women's Camp reunion Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at Centennial Park in Salem, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture.

Fog Holds Up 'Delta Queen' In River Trip

Like a vision out of the ante bellum days of steamboating, the big excursion craft. "Delta Queen" sailed majestically past East Liverpool on the Ohio River Sunday morning, upbound for Pittsburgh.

Heavy fog late Saturday night caused an unscheduled stop for the huge sternwheeler at Wellsville. Locked through the Stratton Super-dam at 11:20 Saturday, she proceeded only a short distance upriver before tying up for the night.

Then the "Delta Queen" halted at the city wharf at the foot of Broadway momentarily and discharged two passengers who departed by auto. But the sight went unnoticed by most East Liverpool residents, still abed or preparing for church when the stop was made at 10 a. m.

The big craft is used throughout the summer to take excursion parties on trips of one to three weeks' duration. She is scheduled to pass East Liverpool again about Tuesday, downbound with a party of vacationers from the Pittsburgh district.

Pupil Had Original Idea On Arts-Science

ATLANTA (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy M. Van Schleven is a seventh grade science teacher who wants her pupils to understand the relationship between the sciences and the arts. She asked her class to create something using common objects around their homes.

Bobby Wood took his material from a biology laboratory and his technique from the avant garde. This is how he came up with a nonrepresentational painting:

"I took some plain old fishing worms and dipped them in paint. Then I took them out with tweezers and let them wriggle across a piece of plywood that I had painted white. Then I dipped the tweezers in the paint and flung the paint across the board."

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mae Belle Cain loves birds but enough is enough. A lame pigeon she nursed back to health last year spread the word all over town that she was good for a handout, and now she is beset by flocks of freeloaders. It is expensive feeding them and her neighbors complain they can't hang out their wash and get it back in wearable condition.

Woman Motorist Cited In Lone County Crash

A Salem woman was cited for unsafe operation in a three-car crash Sunday night at 7:50 near Lisbon — the lone weekend traffic mishap investigated by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Officers reported Virginia H. Rosta, 51, was cited after her car hit the rear of the auto of Harold O. Hiscox, 55, of Lisbon R. D. 5, and then sideswiped the car of Fernanda Andressi, 39, of Beaver, approaching from the opposite direction.

The patrol said Hiscox and the Salem woman both were headed north and Andressi was southbound. Hiscox had slowed to attempt a right turn when his car was hit in the rear.

No one was injured and officers said damage was minor. The accident occurred on Route 45, two and a half miles north of Lisbon.

Sheriff Hunts Liquor, Winds Up With Water

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — It was a long trip for Deputy Sheriff James Sirmans when he drove 20 miles into the country on a tip from a telephone caller who informed him that an illegal liquor still was being built.

The telephone caller said he saw a truck loaded with pipe and other equipment that looked like it was designed for a still.

Ford Seeks End To Ohio Walkout

DETROIT (AP) — Union and management negotiators were to meet again today in an effort to settle an Ohio strike which has led to 50,000 layoffs of Ford Motor Co. workers.

The third meeting of the renewed bargaining sessions with the United Auto Workers ended in the Ford central office building here Sunday with a report of no progress.

Meanwhile, a strike of 3,200 workers at the Ford Walton Hills Stamping Plant near Cleveland went into its 12th day. The strike began over work standards at the plant which supplies parts for all Ford models except Lincoln Continental.

Last week, Ford closed its 16 auto assembly plants and stopped some manufacturing operations. Henry Ford II said more manufacturing plants will close if the Ohio stoppage continues. He said a lack of space for stockpiling would force closures as the parts shortage grows more acute.

Wellsville Girl Falls While Avoiding Truck

A 7-year-old Wellsville girl slipped and fell on the street just before darting into the path of a slow-moving pickup truck Saturday afternoon at 3:10 at 7th St. and Broadway, Wellsville.

Police said Anna Marie Mase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Mase of Main St., was playing along the sidewalk when she darted into the street. Robert F. Burlingame, 24, of East Liverpool R. D. 2, driving a truck owned by Adkins Lumber Co., had spotted the girl and slowed.

She apparently saw the vehicle after she started running and slipped to the street when she tried to halt. She was not struck by the truck, officers said. The child suffered minor bruises.

Fog Holds Up 'Delta Queen' In River Trip

Like a vision out of the ante bellum days of steamboating, the big excursion craft. "Delta Queen" sailed majestically past East Liverpool on the Ohio River Sunday morning, upbound for Pittsburgh.

Heavy fog late Saturday night caused an unscheduled stop for the huge sternwheeler at Wellsville. Locked through the Stratton Super-dam at 11:20 Saturday, she proceeded only a short distance upriver before tying up for the night.

Then the "Delta Queen" halted at the city wharf at the foot of Broadway momentarily and discharged two passengers who departed by auto. But the sight went unnoticed by most East Liverpool residents, still abed or preparing for church when the stop was made at 10 a. m.

Owned by Green Line Steamers, Inc., and homeported at Cincinnati, the "Delta Queen" is one of the last and one of the biggest sternwheelers still in service in Ohio and Mississippi waters.

The big craft is used throughout the summer to take excursion parties on trips of one to three weeks' duration. She is scheduled to pass East Liverpool again about Tuesday, downbound with a party of vacationers from the Pittsburgh district.

Pupil Had Original Idea On Arts-Science

ATLANTA (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy M. Van Schleven is a seventh grade science teacher who wants her pupils to understand the relationship between the sciences and the arts. She asked her class to create something using common objects around their homes.

Bobby Wood took his material from a biology laboratory and his technique from the avant garde. This is how he came up with a nonrepresentational painting:

"I took some plain old fishing worms and dipped them in paint. Then I took them out with tweezers and let them wriggle across a piece of plywood that I had painted white. Then I dipped the tweezers in the paint and flung the paint across the board."

Know A Good Thing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) -- Mae Belle Cain loves birds but enough is enough. A lame pigeon she nursed back to health last year spread the word all over town that she was good for a handout, and now she is beset by flocks of freeloaders. It is expensive feeding them and her neighbors complain they can't hang out their wash and get it back in wearable condition.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 10 years old and love my parents very much. I hope they love me but I'm not sure. Sometimes they act like they do and sometimes they act like they don't.

I have some cousins and my father thinks they are angels. Especially my cousin Gregory who is one year older than I am. Whenever I do something that isn't perfect my father says he bets Gregory wouldn't do that.

I want my folks to like me because I have to live here for another 11 years at least. Can you print some advice for me like you do for older people so my father will like me better ? I sure do thank you. — CHARLES.

Dear Charles: I'll bet your father wouldn't trade you for all the Gregorys in the world. He just thinks Gregory is so great because he sees him when he's on his best behavior.

Here is a poem. I hope you will tear it out of the paper and hand it to your dad. The person who wrote it calls herself "Zoa".

Fathers are large people.
Who frequently declare
That "other children" eat their meals
And sit straight in a chair.
"Other children" wash their hands,
According to my father.

They never yell, or lose their hats.
Or fight, or be a bother.
"Other children," Father says,
Speak when they are spoken to,
They answer "please" and "thank you"
The way I'm supposed to do.

I'm sorry for my father,
Just as sorry as can be,
He knows such lovely children,
And then got stuck with me.

Hubby Hates Smoke

Dear Ann: Tom is a nonsmoker. His first wife smoked heavily and it was a source of irritation to him. The argument which finally led him to divorce her was over cigarette butts.

Before we married I promised Tom I'd stop smoking but I can't seem to get around to it. He didn't say much for awhile but lately he has become irritable and sarcastic.

This is my first marriage and I didn't know husbands could be so bossy, We've been married less than a year and are forever quarreling.

How can I make Tom see that he is unreasonable to expect me to break a habit I've had for 15 years? Please say something in your column about this. I need help. — LOVER OF FREEDOM.

Dear Lover: Too bad your husband didn't insist that you quit smoking before he married you. It may have been the incentive you needed to help give up those coffin nails. You're going to have a rough time now that you already have the guy.

Experts in the field of human relations say men who remarry after divorce have a tendency to repeat the same mistakes. Perhaps this information will help you get off Tobacco Road.

Confidentially

TO CIVILIZED MAN: Prejudicial people are immobilized by their own irrational fears and hatreds. Such people are severely handicapped and rarely content.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Summer Daylight Means Less Sleep

Most children don't sleep as long at night in summer as they do in winter. Though parents may have clocks to follow, children tend more and more to follow the hours of the sun. During winter, when it gets dark earlier, parents are more inclined to put the younger child to bed at a regular early hour. When the summer days arrive, with daylight lingering so long, parents are more prone to let the tot play till darkness comes. Besides, this youngster, so apt to awaken with the dawn, may rise earlier in summer than in winter. Whereas a tot can be trained to sleep till any reasonable regular hour in the morning, not many parents teach him to do so.

THEREFORE, IF the baby or young child is to get ample hours of night - sleep, his parents will need to hold him, reasonably, to a schedule by the clock. Naturally, such a schedule requires self-discipline by parents as well as good control of the youngster.

Bedtime for youngsters over six also tends to be later during the summer days. The long evening hours are good times for outdoor fun, and as "There's no school tomorrow", parents incline to let these youngsters play outdoors as long as they can see.

Moreover, with no school program to suggest any regimenting of bedtime, these youngsters may not go to bed for several hours after coming indoors.

While some older children may choose to be allowed to sleep late in the morning, many of them will from habit get up unduly early. Result: their total hours of sleep may be unduly short.

ANY PARENT who doubts the foregoing should check for a week on the total number of hours each of her children has slept at night.

What I have been saying refers to parents who attempt to regulate the bedtime hours of their children the year round.

How about the parents who kid themselves that they hold their children to reasonable bedtime hours, but are so ineffective at doing it that their children go to bed from one to several hours later than these parents think they should? And what of the many other parents who don't even attempt to set and enforce a regular bedtime?

Considering either of these groups of parents, it's a safe assertion that most children don't sleep as long by night in summer as in winter.

My bulletin "Sleep Problems with Children" may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 10 years old and love my parents very much. I hope they love me but I'm not sure. Sometimes they act like they do and sometimes they act like they don't.

I have some cousins and my father thinks they are angels. Especially my cousin Gregory who is one year older than I am. Whenever I do something that isn't perfect my father says he bets Gregory wouldn't do that.

I want my folks to like me because I have to live here for another 11 years at least. Can you print some advice for me like you do for older people so my father will like me better ? I sure do thank you. — CHARLES.

Dear Charles: I'll bet your father wouldn't trade you for all the Gregorys in the world. He just thinks Gregory is so great because he sees him when he's on his best behavior.

Here is a poem. I hope you will tear it out of the paper and hand it to your dad. The person who wrote it calls herself "Zoa".

Fathers are large people.
Who frequently declare
That "other children" eat their meals
And sit straight in a chair.
"Other children" wash their hands,
According to my father.

They never yell, or lose their hats.
Or fight, or be a bother.
"Other children," Father says,
Speak when they are spoken to,
They answer "please" and "thank you"
The way I'm supposed to do.

I'm sorry for my father,
Just as sorry as can be,
He knows such lovely children,
And then got stuck with me.

Hubby Hates Smoke

Dear Ann: Tom is a nonsmoker. His first wife smoked heavily and it was a source of irritation to him. The argument which finally led him to divorce her was over cigarette butts.

Before we married I promised Tom I'd stop smoking but I can't seem to get around to it. He didn't say much for awhile but lately he has become irritable and sarcastic.

This is my first marriage and I didn't know husbands could be so bossy, We've been married less than a year and are forever quarreling.

How can I make Tom see that he is unreasonable to expect me to break a habit I've had for 15 years? Please say something in your column about this. I need help. — LOVER OF FREEDOM.

Dear Lover: Too bad your husband didn't insist that you quit smoking before he married you. It may have been the incentive you needed to help give up those coffin nails. You're going to have a rough time now that you already have the guy.

Experts in the field of human relations say men who remarry after divorce have a tendency to repeat the same mistakes. Perhaps this information will help you get off Tobacco Road.

Confidentially

TO CIVILIZED MAN: Prejudicial people are immobilized by their own irrational fears and hatreds. Such people are severely handicapped and rarely content.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Summer Daylight Means Less Sleep

Most children don't sleep as long at night in summer as they do in winter. Though parents may have clocks to follow, children tend more and more to follow the hours of the sun. During winter, when it gets dark earlier, parents are more inclined to put the younger child to bed at a regular early hour. When the summer days arrive, with daylight lingering so long, parents are more prone to let the tot play till darkness comes. Besides, this youngster, so apt to awaken with the dawn, may rise earlier in summer than in winter. Whereas a tot can be trained to sleep till any reasonable regular hour in the morning, not many parents teach him to do so.

THEREFORE, IF the baby or young child is to get ample hours of night - sleep, his parents will need to hold him, reasonably, to a schedule by the clock. Naturally, such a schedule requires self-discipline by parents as well as good control of the youngster.

Bedtime for youngsters over six also tends to be later during the summer days. The long evening hours are good times for outdoor fun, and as "There's no school tomorrow", parents incline to let these youngsters play outdoors as long as they can see.

Moreover, with no school program to suggest any regimenting of bedtime, these youngsters may not go to bed for several hours after coming indoors.

While some older children may choose to be allowed to sleep late in the morning, many of them will from habit get up unduly early. Result: their total hours of sleep may be unduly short.

ANY PARENT who doubts the foregoing should check for a week on the total number of hours each of her children has slept at night.

What I have been saying refers to parents who attempt to regulate the bedtime hours of their children the year round.

How about the parents who kid themselves that they hold their children to reasonable bedtime hours, but are so ineffective at doing it that their children go to bed from one to several hours later than these parents think they should? And what of the many other parents who don't even attempt to set and enforce a regular bedtime?

Considering either of these groups of parents, it's a safe assertion that most children don't sleep as long by night in summer as in winter.

My bulletin "Sleep Problems with Children" may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

300 See New Hookstown Telephone Exchange

About 300 attended the "open house" held Saturday at the new $155,000 Pennsylvania Bell Telephone Co. dial exchange in Hookstown, according to Paul London, manager of the Rochester office.

The tent at left was erected for the open house. The theme was "Hookstown Telephone Fair." The dial exchange building, located on Washington St., is geared for the expansion of the South Side area and can handle 20,000 subscribers. It now handles about 700.

The company took over the exchange in 1946 from a private group which had about 20 subscribers. In a year's time, the number of subscribers jumped to 200.

The new facility replaces an exchange located on Route 30 about two miles from Hookstown and offers direct dialing service to other communities for Hookstown area subscribers. Calls formerly routed through East Liverpool now go through Rochester.

Ground was broken March 9, 1961, for the new facility and it went into operation in November. The facility and other improvements cost an estimated $400,000.

Demonstrations during the open house included cable splices by the company's cable department and a hydraulic lift, used to hang terminals and to cut trees. Various telephone models and other equipment were displayed.

Mosquitoes Used In Age Experiment

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Calvin A. Lang of the University of Louisville hopes to use mosquitoes to find out why men grow old.

Lang is doing basic research into the biochemistry of growth and aging, with one goal being to determine why one person is burned out at 35 and another is spry and active at 80.

Why mosquitoes? Although they live only about 30 days, they have precise and sharply divided periods of development. They grow rapidly, age rapidly and have nutritional requirements similar to humans.

'Go Fer' That Counts

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — Terrance Leonhardy's dog, Tammy, is trained to retrieve golf balls.

Leonhardy recently sent Tammy to fetch a shot into the rough.

A half hour later Tammy returned. She didn't have the golf ball, but proudly placed a gopher at her master's feet.

Loaded With Poison

GRAYSON, Ky. — Necessity overcame convention when Dr. J. Lowell Lusby, president of Kentucky Christian College, handed out diplomas to 28 graduates.

He shook hands with all but honor student James Comstock.

Lusby's explanation to the audience: "He has poison ivy."

Nicklaus Looms Golf's New Strongman After Victory

Jack Gains Big Margin With Putter

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the new National Open golf champion, is a young man to whom things always have come fast. Yet he's one of the slowest players in the game.

If he wants to, he can hit a golf ball as far as any man in the world. Yet he probably had the most delicate putting touch of any of the players in the 62nd U.S. championship, which ended here late Sunday with Nicklaus' three-stroke victory over the great Arnold Palmer in an 18-hole playoff.

Without question, he has become the new No. 1 challenger to Palmer for supremacy in golf. Yet the Open was his first tournament victory as a professional.

"That big strong dude," as Palmer calls the thick-bodied youngster from Columbus, Ohio, took up golf at 10, broke 70 for the first time when he was 13, won the Ohio Open title at 16, the first of two U.S. Amateur championships at 19, and now at 22, he is the youngest U.S. Open king since Bobby Jones won at Inwood in 1923 at the age of 21.

"He's a helluva player," says Palmer, the man the golfers themselves — including Nicklaus — consider No. 1. "He's got all the shots — everything it takes to be a great player. Time will tell but this young man is going to win a lot more championships."

At a shade under six feet and about 200 pounds, Nicklaus, the son of a pharmacist, looks nothing like Bantam Ben but may be the new Hogan of golf.

He is confident to the point of cockiness. He is deliberate to the point of exasperation. He is methodical to the point of carrying in his back pocket a chart of each course he plays. He stands over a putt for minutes without movement. Then like the Hogan of old, he strokes the ball with a feather-touch, like a truck driver threading a needle.

Against Palmer, the advocate of power golf, he consistently was longer off the tee—driving an estimated 328 yards on one hole during the showdown playoff. Yet he swung at each drive, each fairway wood and each approach shot, with such ease it looked as if he were practicing in the back yard.

A business administration major at Ohio State, Nicklaus left school last fall when he was offered a professional contract he couldn't reject—a six-figure guarantee.

Fast? Since then, he has played in 18 golf tournaments and won money in all 18. This year, he is third on the money-winning list with earnings of $45,698—by far a record for a rookie professional. He plans to go back to Ohio State to complete his degree in business administration.

"I've got two quarters to go at Columbus," he says, "and you can never tell when I might have to depend on my insurance business."

'Won It On The Greens,' Says Jack

By JOE BRADIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP)—"I won it on the greens," Jack Nicklaus, the new U.S. Open golf champion, said Sunday after his surprise 18-hole playoff victory over favorite Arnold Palmer.

"I took my time putting," he added. "I didn't want to waste a stroke. In fact I three-putted only one green in 90 holes in the tournament.

"At Cherry Hills (Denver) two years ago, I three-putted nine greens and last year at Detroit I three-putted a half dozen."

Palmer three-putted four greens in his third round and had two three-putt greens in the playoff.

Nicklaus is one of the youngest players to win the U.S. Open at 22.

The 200-pound Ohioan, who turned professional only last November, beat Palmer by three strokes. Nicklaus shot an even par 71, Palmer 74.

How did he do it?

Simply with a "road map" of the hilly greens, a new wedge and a formula for hitting the ball a little lower from the tees plus what he called "a little luck."

"Arnie was very unlucky." he added.

The triumph, worth $15,000 first prize and a bonus of $2,500, boosted Nicklaus' year's money winnings to $45,698, No. 3 in the professional ranks.

1st-Place Tribe Sweeps Yanks, Who Trail By 3

Over 70,000 See Indians Lace Yankees; Twins Bow To Athletics

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The resurrection of Cleveland as a baseball town seems to be complete. After years of disappointing attendance and frustrating play by the Indians, the Tribe leads the American League by two full games after sweeping a four-game series from the New York Yankees.

It was like the old days of Bill Veeck and Co. as a roaring throng of 70,918, largest in the majors this season, lapped up a double victory over the Yanks Sunday, 6-1 and 6-3.

With only five games to play against New York this year, the Indians have a 9-4 edge and are assured of at least a tie in the season series with their hated rivals.

Winning nine of its last 12 games while the slumping Yanks dropped seven out of eight, Cleveland has moved front and center as a most important pennant possibility.

Though it looks like a race to the wire, the Indians are sitting pretty while the second-place Minnesota Twins and third-place Yanks are stumbling. At the moment the hottest threat is Los Angeles, a half game behind the Yanks after sweeping two from Chicago, 5-3 and 6-5. Kansas City, too, is charging.

Detroit broke its seven-game losing slump, beating Boston in the first game 8-5 with the help of two homers by rookie Purnal Goldy, but succumbed to Ike Delock's seven-hit pitching in the 5-0 second game.

Red hot Kansas City stretched its streak to six, defeating the Twins again, 10-6—another victory for the surprising Dave Wickersham, who owns an 8-2 record. Norm Siebern's two homers were the big blows of a 12-hit attack against Jack Kralick and a long line of relief men.

Baltimore continued to revel in Washington's new stadium, beating the Senators for the sixth straight time in their home park. Jerry Adair drove in three runs and Hoyt Wilhelm shut the door in relief in a 4-3 victory.

The major league program drew 251,752 paid admissions.

Jerry Kindall, Bubba Phillips and Jim Mahoney put the Cleveland crowd in a holiday mood with successive homers off Bill Stafford in the second inning of the opener. Dick Donovan rolled to his 10th victory, first pitcher to hit that mark in the American, although he had to be replaced in the seventh when he strained a thigh muscle.

Willie Kirkland's two-run homer routed starter Jim Coates in the second game, in which Pedro Ramos required late-inning help from Gary Bell to win his fourth.

Homers by Leon Wagner (No. 18 and No. 19) and a fine relief job by Bo Belinsky turned the trick for the Angels in the first game at Chicago. It was the first relief appearance of the no-hit wonder, who has been having his difficulties lately on and off the field. A four-run rally in the eighth featured by Felix Torres' two-run double led the Angels to the second victory.

Siebern and Joe Azcue each lashed three hits against the Twins. Wickersham, who left the game because he was bothered by a back strain, has a 5-1 record since he became a starter May 22.

Wilhelm retired the first eight men he faced at Washington. With two out in the ninth he gave up a single, hit a batter and let loose a wild pitch before he got the final out.

Winning nine of its last 12 games while the slumping Yanks dropped seven out of eight, Cleveland has moved front and center as a most important pennant possibility.

Though it looks like a race to the wire, the Indians are sitting pretty while the second-place Minnesota Twins and third-place Yanks are stumbling. At the moment the hottest threat is Los Angeles, a half game behind the Yanks after sweeping two from Chicago, 5-3 and 6-5. Kansas City, too, is charging.

Detroit broke its seven-game losing slump, beating Boston in the first game 8-5 with the help of two homers by rookie Purnal Goldy, but succumbed to Ike Delock's seven-hit pitching in the 5-0 second game.

Red hot Kansas City stretched its streak to six, defeating the Twins again, 10-6—another victory for the surprising Dave Wickersham, who owns an 8-2 record. Norm Siebern's two homers were the big blows of a 12-hit attack against Jack Kralick and a long line of relief men.

Baltimore continued to revel in Washington's new stadium, beating the Senators for the sixth straight time in their home park. Jerry Adair drove in three runs and Hoyt Wilhelm shut the door in relief in a 4-3 victory.

The major league program drew 251,752 paid admissions.

Jerry Kindall, Bubba Phillips and Jim Mahoney put the Cleveland crowd in a holiday mood with successive homers off Bill Stafford in the second inning of the opener. Dick Donovan rolled to his 10th victory, first pitcher to hit that mark in the American, although he had to be replaced in the seventh when he strained a thigh muscle.

Willie Kirkland's two-run homer routed starter Jim Coates in the second game, in which Pedro Ramos required late-inning help from Gary Bell to win his fourth.

Homers by Leon Wagner (No. 18 and No. 19) and a fine relief job by Bo Belinsky turned the trick for the Angels in the first game at Chicago. It was the first relief appearance of the no-hit wonder, who has been having his difficulties lately on and off the field. A four-run rally in the eighth featured by Felix Torres' two-run double led the Angels to the second victory.

Siebern and Joe Azcue each lashed three hits against the Twins. Wickersham, who left the game because he was bothered by a back strain, has a 5-1 record since he became a starter May 22.

Wilhelm retired the first eight men he faced at Washington. With two out in the ninth he gave up a single, hit a batter and let loose a wild pitch before he got the final out.

LA Snaps Losing String; Giants Win, Remain Game Out

Bucs Top Braves; Phils Stun Reds

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

What a difference a year makes in baseball.

If the Cincinnati Reds had to pick a team which contributed most to their 1961 National League pennant, Philadelphia would have won hands down. The Phils curled up and played dead at the mere sight of a Cincinnati uniform, losing 19 of 22.

The Reds are finding the Phils a different cup of tea in 1962. They came into Philadelphia fresh from shutout victories over the San Francisco Giants, only to lose three straight to the Phils.

Roy Sievers and Don Demeter did the heavy damage Sunday, driving in five runs in a 7-2 rout of Jim O'Toole. Gene Mauch's young men now have an 8-5 edge over the '61 champs for the year.

While the Reds were stumbling, the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers finally snapped out of it and broke a three-game losing streak by beating Houston 6-2. The scrappy Colts had been making mischief in Walter O'Malley's splendiferous new stadium and had rolled up a four-game winning string.

The Dodgers needed that win, too, because the second-place San Francisco Giants polished off St. Louis 6-3 on a three-run homer by Tom Haller in the last of the ninth. The Dodgers still lead the Giants by one game.

Pittsburgh hopped on Warren Spahn, working with only three days rest, and banged out a 7-3 decision over Milwaukee behind little Harvey Haddix who struck out 10 Braves.

The New York Mets, specialists in losing streaks, now have a new six-game string going after losing two to the Chicago Cubs 8-7 and 4-3. Home runs did the job for the Cubs. Rookie Lou Brock became the first player to hit a ball into the right center field bleachers in the Polo Grounds in the opener and Ron Santo cracked No. 10 with the score tied in the ninth inning of the second game.

Jack Baldschun of the Phils notched his second victory over the Reds in eight days when he came to the rescue of Paul Brown in the fourth inning at Connie Mack Stadium. Baldschun came in with the bases loaded and two runs in and struck out Leo Cardenas and got pinch hitter Wally Post on a pop fly.

Tom Davis's three-run homer enabled the Dodgers to come from behind against the Colts. Los Angeles, which had scored only six runs in its five previous games, broke out with five in the sixth inning against Ken Johnson, Dean Stone and Bob Tiefenauer.

Haller, a former University of Illinois quarterback, was the Giants' hero for the day with his homer off Ray Washburn. The Cards had fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the eighth on a two-run homer by Red Schoendienst.

Brock's 460-foot homer was the talk of the day at the Polo Grounds. The rookie also doubled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of the first game in which Ernie Banks slammed No. 18. Billy Williams' 14th homer tied the score in the seventh inning of the second game and Santo's shot off Vinegar Bend Mizell won it in the ninth.

Lawyer Expects McElroy To Act In Sale Of 'Reds'

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ted Saker, assistant Ohio attorney general, said last night Attorney General Mark McElroy will attempt in court to "upset" the sale of the Cincinnati Reds to William O. DeWitt.

Saker, striking back at criticism of the attorney general by officials of the Crosley Foundation, which sold the team, said a suit will be filed in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

"It will be at the very least an attempt to upset the sale of the Reds to (Bill) DeWitt, to set it aside," he said.

DeWitt, who has been club president, brought the club last March on a bid of $4,625,000 from the foundation, the old owners.

McElroy entered the case as supervisor of Ohio charitable trusts, contending others were willing to offer more money for the club — specifically a group headed by Joseph Rippe, Cincinnati real estate dealer, who offered $5.5 million.

Atty. Charles Sawyer for the foundation criticized McElroy's action Saturday, saying he welcomed a court test of the matter "rather than in one of your press conferences."

Ohio University Plans Repairs For Ellis Hall

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ellis Hall, one of the oldest and largest of classroom buildings on the campus of Ohio University, will be closed next school year for complete renovation, at a cost of $800,000.

President Vernon R. Alden said the work on the 56-year-old structure, which has wooden floors, must be undertaken for reasons of safety. Concrete floors and new lighting, heating and plumbing facilities will be installed, and the front and rear entrances facelifted.

Centennial Balloons Found Miles Away

SANDOVAL, Ill. (AP) — Officials of this Southern Illinois town's centennial committee were surprised to learn some of the helium-filled ballons released during the centennial celebration in 1959 were found bobbing in a Florida surf 1,200 miles away in May 1962.

The mystery was solved when a fisherman explained he was using the discarded balloons to test a fishing techinique during a Florida vacation.

Student On Long Cycle Trip Goes Through District

A college student passed through East Liverpool this morning en route to Pittsburgh on another leg of a long bicycle ride from Mitchell, S. D., to New York City.

Boyajian is carrying invitations to "Corn Palace Week" and drops them off to mayors and presidents of Chambers of Commerce along the way. The event is named for Mitchell's biggest civic attraction, which features decorations and murals done in corn of various colors by a noted artist.

What made the youngster decide on such a rugged method of transportation for his return home?

"When I flew home for Easter vacation, I heard that they were looking for somebody to walk across the country to the Seattle World's Fair."

"So I started thinking about walking home for summer vacation." Then the dean of students at the college suggested a bicycle and the Chamber of Commerce there furnished a bike for the trip.

Ingemar Johansson Wins European Boxing Crown

By RON THOMSON

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Buoyant Ingemar Johansson took the European heavyweight title under his care today and said he had earned a rest before challenging either Floyd Patterson or Sonny Liston for the world championship.

Johansson was back as the pride of Sweden after demolishing tough Dick Richardson of Wales with an eighth-round knockout in the open air Ullevi Stadium Sunday night.

"Ingo is better now than he was in all of his three world title fights against Patterson," said Whitey Bimstein, Johansson's American trainer.

Johansson, riding high after three knockout victories since he went on the comeback trail, told reporters:

"I want to fight Patterson or Liston, whoever wins the title match in September.

"But I have been training and fighting hard for the past year and I think I deserve a short layoff. Perhaps I will have one more fight before challenging again for the world crown.

"I have no excuses," he said. "Ingo was stronger and cleverer."

Woods also turned in a fine running catch of a foul ball.

Dave Bowersock blanked Friendly Bowling for six innings before the Bowlers scored their lone run. The Central Service hurler gave up six hits, including two to Dennis Horger. Central Service collected five hits led by Dave Chetwynd's triple. Merritt was the losing hurler.

American Girls Wins Last (?) Of Wightman Events

LONDON (AP)—The 1962 version of the Wightman Cup Tennis Tournament, which has pitted the girls of England against those of the United States for 40 years, may have been the last.

This year's tourney ended Saturday with a 4-3 American victory.

The Cup was donated by Mrs. George W. Wightman who played on the first American team in 1923 and was non-playing captain from 1946-1948. The contest has been held yearly since 1923 except for the World War II period. The United States has won 28 times, Britain six.

Now there is general feeling the series is too exclusive. The girls want a tournament that is open to all and there is a plan afoot for starting a new tourney next year. The proposal is to come before the international tennis federation next month.

Nineteen cars started the race, third such formula one event counting for the 1962 World Drivers' Championships, but only 11 drivers finished.

LA Snaps Losing String; Giants Win, Remain Game Out

Bucs Top Braves; Phils Stun Reds

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Cincinnati Reds had to pick a team which contributed most to their 1961 National League pennant, Philadelphia would have won hands down. The Phils curled up and played dead at the mere sight of a Cincinnati uniform, losing 19 of 22.

The Reds are finding the Phils a different cup of tea in 1962. They came into Philadelphia fresh from shutout victories over the San Francisco Giants, only to lose three straight to the Phils.

Roy Sievers and Don Demeter did the heavy damage Sunday, driving in five runs in a 7-2 rout of Jim O'Toole. Gene Mauch's young men now have an 8-5 edge over the '61 champs for the year.

While the Reds were stumbling, the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers finally snapped out of it and broke a three-game losing streak by beating Houston 6-2. The scrappy Colts had been making mischief in Walter O'Malley's splendiferous new stadium and had rolled up a four-game winning string.

The Dodgers needed that win, too, because the second-place San Francisco Giants polished off St. Louis 6-3 on a three-run homer by Tom Haller in the last of the ninth. The Dodgers still lead the Giants by one game.

Pittsburgh hopped on Warren Spahn, working with only three days rest, and banged out a 7-3 decision over Milwaukee behind little Harvey Haddix who struck out 10 Braves.

The New York Mets, specialists in losing streaks, now have a new six-game string going after losing two to the Chicago Cubs 8-7 and 4-3. Home runs did the job for the Cubs. Rookie Lou Brock became the first player to hit a ball into the right center field bleachers in the Polo Grounds in the opener and Ron Santo cracked No. 10 with the score tied in the ninth inning of the second game.

Jack Baldschun of the Phils notched his second victory over the Reds in eight days when he came to the rescue of Paul Brown in the fourth inning at Connie Mack Stadium. Baldschun came in with the bases loaded and two runs in and struck out Leo Cardenas and got pinch hitter Wally Post on a pop fly.

Tom Davis's three-run homer enabled the Dodgers to come from behind against the Colts. Los Angeles, which had scored only six runs in its five previous games, broke out with five in the sixth inning against Ken Johnson, Dean Stone and Bob Tiefenauer.

Haller, a former University of Illinois quarterback, was the Giants' hero for the day with his homer off Ray Washburn. The Cards had fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the eighth on a two-run homer by Red Schoendienst.

Brock's 460-foot homer was the talk of the day at the Polo Grounds. The rookie also doubled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning of the first game in which Ernie Banks slammed No. 18. Billy Williams' 14th homer tied the score in the seventh inning of the second game and Santo's shot off Vinegar Bend Mizell won it in the ninth.

Nonpareil Club Sets Meeting Tuesday

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the YMCA, H. A. (Hap) Tullis, president, announced.

Student On Long Cycle Trip Goes Through District

A college student passed through East Liverpool this morning en route to Pittsburgh on another leg of a long bicycle ride from Mitchell, S. D., to New York City.

Boyajian is carrying invitations to "Corn Palace Week" and drops them off to mayors and presidents of Chambers of Commerce along the way. The event is named for Mitchell's biggest civic attraction, which features decorations and murals done in corn of various colors by a noted artist.

What made the youngster decide on such a rugged method of transportation for his return home?

"When I flew home for Easter vacation, I heard that they were looking for somebody to walk across the country to the Seattle World's Fair."

"So I started thinking about walking home for summer vacation." Then the dean of students at the college suggested a bicycle and the Chamber of Commerce there furnished a bike for the trip.

American Girls Wins Last (?) Of Wightman Events

LONDON (AP)—The 1962 version of the Wightman Cup Tennis Tournament, which has pitted the girls of England against those of the United States for 40 years, may have been the last.

This year's tourney ended Saturday with a 4-3 American victory.

The Cup was donated by Mrs. George W. Wightman who played on the first American team in 1923 and was non-playing captain from 1946-1948. The contest has been held yearly since 1923 except for the World War II period. The United States has won 28 times, Britain six.

Now there is general feeling the series is too exclusive. The girls want a tournament that is open to all and there is a plan afoot for starting a new tourney next year. The proposal is to come before the international tennis federation next month.

Grand Prix Won With Speed Mark Of 131.895 MPH

FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium, (AP) — Jimmy Clark of Britain, driving a Lotus, won the Belgian Automobile Grand Prix for formula-one cars Sunday with an average speed record of 131.895 miles per hour for 1,500-cubic centimeter cars.

Graham Hill of Britain in a BRM finished second. Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., in a Ferrari, was third, and Ricardo Rodriguez, Mexico, in a Ferrari was fourth.

Clark covered the 32-lap circuit (280.362 miles) in 2 hours, 10 minutes, 35.3 seconds.

Phil Hill had held the speed record for 1,500 c.c. cars since last year when he clocked 128.148 m.p.h.

Nineteen cars started the race, third such formula one event counting for the 1962 World Drivers' Championships, but only 11 drivers finished.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ted Saker, assistant Ohio attorney general, said last night Attorney General Mark McElroy will attempt in court to "upset" the sale of the Cincinnati Reds to William O. DeWitt.

Saker, striking back at criticism of the attorney general by officials of the Crosley Foundation, which sold the team, said a suit will be filed in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

"It will be at the very least an attempt to upset the sale of the Reds to (Bill) DeWitt, to set it aside," he said.

DeWitt, who has been club president, brought the club last March on a bid of $4,625,000 from the foundation, the old owners.

McElroy entered the case as supervisor of Ohio charitable trusts, contending others were willing to offer more money for the club — specifically a group headed by Joseph Rippe, Cincinnati real estate dealer, who offered $5.5 million.

Atty. Charles Sawyer for the foundation criticized McElroy's action Saturday, saying he welcomed a court test of the matter "rather than in one of your press conferences."

Ohio University Plans Repairs For Ellis Hall

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ellis Hall, one of the oldest and largest of classroom buildings on the campus of Ohio University, will be closed next school year for complete renovation, at a cost of $800,000.

President Vernon R. Alden said the work on the 56-year-old structure, which has wooden floors, must be undertaken for reasons of safety. Concrete floors and new lighting, heating and plumbing facilities will be installed, and the front and rear entrances facelifted.

Centennial Balloons Found Miles Away

SANDOVAL, Ill. (AP) — Officials of this Southern Illinois town's centennial committee were surprised to learn some of the helium-filled ballons released during the centennial celebration in 1959 were found bobbing in a Florida surf 1,200 miles away in May 1962.

The mystery was solved when a fisherman explained he was using the discarded balloons to test a fishing techinique during a Florida vacation.

Ingemar Johansson Wins European Boxing Crown

By RON THOMSON

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Buoyant Ingemar Johansson took the European heavyweight title under his care today and said he had earned a rest before challenging either Floyd Patterson or Sonny Liston for the world championship.

Johansson was back as the pride of Sweden after demolishing tough Dick Richardson of Wales with an eighth-round knockout in the open air Ullevi Stadium Sunday night.

"Ingo is better now than he was in all of his three world title fights against Patterson," said Whitey Bimstein, Johansson's American trainer.

Johansson, riding high after three knockout victories since he went on the comeback trail, told reporters:

"But I have been training and fighting hard for the past year and I think I deserve a short layoff. Perhaps I will have one more fight before challenging again for the world crown.

"I have no excuses," he said. "Ingo was stronger and cleverer."

Junior Editors Quiz on YOU

QUESTION: How do the different kinds of cells in the body know exactly what to do?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: When, in 1665, Robert Hooke peered through one of the early microscopes at a bit of cork, he saw many little boxes joined together. He called them "cells" because they reminded him of monks' cells in the monestaries. Later on, Rudolph Virchow, looking at a cell through a better microscope, distinguished a spot called the nucleus with another spot inside it, some substance in which the nucleus floated, and the wall around the cell. Little more was known until a few years ago a marvelous instrument called the electron microscope gave us a much closer look. We now know something, at least, about how cells work. Inside the nucleus are specks called chromosomes and inside them again the "genes," the arrangement of which determines what a person is like. There is a wonderful chemical in the nucleus, an acid, which scientists call DNA; some say it is the very stuff of life. It seems that DNA lays down a kind of code for cell behavior. There is another acid, RNA, which then translates DNA's commands into action.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Borrow a magnifying glass or, if you can, a microscope, and see how different they make ordinary things look.

★ ★ ★

Becky Patino of Muskegon, Mich., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Officials Seek Cause Of Fatal Train Mishap

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Railroad officials continued to search through the wreckage of a New York Central diesel engine today for clues which would tell them why the three-unit diesel and caboose plowed into the rear of a stalled train Saturday, killing two crewmen.

Both victims were in the cab of the moving diesel. They were Homar Hassler, 52, the engineer, and his fireman, Alvin York, 35, both of the Cincinnati area.

Minutes before the collision a 136 - car freight stalled on the tracks. A flagman was sent back up the tracks to warn approaching trains of the difficulty but the flagman, O. B. Sutphein of Bellefontaine, said the oncoming engine did not appear to slow down as he frantically tried to signal the engineer.

Hays Condemns Costs Of Official Residences

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, Democratic congressman from Ohio's 18th District, pulled no punches in a recent House Foreign Affairs Committee hearing on construction of homes for American officials in various areas of the world.

On a proposed $300,000 American ambassador's residence in Cyprus, Hays charged "even Billie Sol Estes only lives in a $150,000 house."

Then during the hearing Hays berated State Department officials for what he called kowtowing to envoys of little countries that have "no more reason for existence than you have to have a colony on the moon."
